NO BASIS FOR RUMOR OF ROOSEVELT'S DEATH

Brother-in-Law Takes no Stock in Reports That ex-President Has Been Killed.

RECEIVES NO CABLES

Mrs. Roosevelt at Rome Has Heard Nothing to Suggest Accident to Husband.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Another of those apparently absurd rumors that bob up nearly every time a prominent man gets out of direct touch with the world circulated over the country today concerning former President Roosevelt.

This will o' the wisp had it that Mr. Roosevelt had been killed in Africa, and, because of the dangers of African hunting freshly imprinted on the public mind by Mr. Roosevelt's magazine articles, there was some uneasiness until Douglas Robinson, Mr. Roosevelt's brother-in-law, declared emphatically he took no stock in such reports.

Mr. Robinson branded the first vague reports of the day as false, and when informed tonight that later rumors from the shadow land of newspaperdom had it that he (Mr. Robinson) had been advised by cable of Mr. Roosevelt's death, he authorized another vigorous denial.

If anything had happened to his brother-in-law, Mr. Robinson was sure he would hear of it immediately. Accordingly, he placed no credit in the reports of today. Magazine editors and Mr. Roosevelt associates of Mr. Roosevelt in New York took this same view.

It was pointed out also that the colonial office in London would be promptly advised of any mishap to Mr. Roosevelt. As nothing had been heard there, this was taken as an additional indication that the rumor was merely a mad sprite from the field of the sinister. According to latest cable dispatches Mr. Roosevelt is hunting on the Upper Ingishu plateau and will remain in Uganda in about two weeks.

ROME, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt entertained a score of friends at the Villa Bacusite this afternoon, among them J. E. Parrott and C. S. Wilson, respectively first and second secretary, and Major Landis, military attache, and Commander Long, naval attache, of the American embassy. The rumor in circulation in the United States that an accident had befallen former President Roosevelt in Africa was cabled to Rome, but was generally discredited.

Mrs. Roosevelt had heard nothing concerning the reported accident.

DEATH FOR TIBALDOS?

ATHENS, Nov. 5.—The government will not be permitted to treat Lieutenant Tibaldos and the men under him in the recent mutiny as political prisoners. Tibaldos and his followers were arrested yesterday, and it was semiofficially stated that they would be charged only with a political crime.

Today, however, a deputation of senior naval officers arrived at an agreement with the Military league that they should insist upon the necessity for maintaining discipline in the navy, and therefore demand that the extreme penalty of the law be meted out to the mutineers.

NERVE GONE UNDER MERCILESS INQUIRY

MME. STEINHEIL IN STATE OF COLLAPSE.

Friend of Faure, on Trial for Murder, Called Liar by Judge.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—After having withstood for nearly three days a merciless examination at the hands of the presiding judge of the court of the assizes, where she is being tried on a charge of murdering her husband and her stepmother, the iron nerves of Mme. Marguerite Steinheil gave way late today, and she was led out of the court room in a state of utter collapse.

Several times before the climax came, restoratives were administered when it seemed as though Mme. Steinheil was about to faint. Each time she recovered quickly and replied to the interrogations of the presiding judge, M. De Valles.

When today's session began, M. De Valles was fearful lest the strain to which Mme. Steinheil had been put for two days was proving too much for her, but his solicitude for her evoked from Mme. Steinheil the unhesitating statement that she was not at all fatigued. M. De Valles thereupon led her through a labyrinth of questions surrounding the case, with his wonted relentlessness, and Mme. Steinheil, with her ever-ready wit, answered them quickly and to the point, or when they seemed unduly compromising, pleaded for justice and not vindictiveness.

MME. STEINHEIL,
Central Figure in Scandal That Has Aroused France.

Once she rose in her dock to the left of the judge and, addressing him, declaring that in the hour of her adversity, certain friends who had partaken of her hospitality had utterly forsaken her.

As to her accusations against Burlingham, an American newspaper man, and others whom she has charged with complicity in the crime, Mme. Steinheil said in her frenzy she had taken recourse in anything that seemed to give promise of clearing herself of the charge.

It was just after a savage attack had been made upon her veracity by the judge that the climax came. Mme. Steinheil's attorney protested, but the judge retorted hotly that the accused woman had lied throughout, that her story was a tissue of lies.

DRAMATIC SUICIDE

PARIS, Nov. 5.—A man believed to have been either an American or an Englishman, dramatically committed suicide in a Montmartre cafe tonight. He had asked the orchestra seven times to play the waltz "When Love Dies," and as the last strains died away, he placed a pistol to his head and shot himself.

BURLINGTON, N. J., Nov. 5.—Cash and bonds amounting to nearly $10,000 were stolen from the home of Schuyler Ranier, aged 72 years, by a masked bandit today.

KENNEDY'S BEQUESTS TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS

Gift of New York Philanthropist Largest Donation of Kind Ever Made.

OVER 60 BENEFICIARIES

Retired Financier Has Given Away Millions Unostentatiously—Presbyterians Receive Bulk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. John Stewart Kennedy, who died of whooping cough in his New York residence on Sunday, left bequests of more than $25,000,000 to religious, charitable and educational institutions. His will was filed for probate today. The gift is the largest single contribution of its kind ever made, and the beneficiaries include educational and church institutions, north, south, east and west, in this country and one abroad, 60 in all.

Nearly half of the $25,000,000 goes to institutions connected with the Presbyterian church, of which Mr. Kennedy had been an active member for many years. Other large beneficiaries include the American Bible society, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the New York public library, the United Charities of New York, Columbia university and Robert college, Constantinople.

Aside from these gifts, Mr. Kennedy left approximately $35,000,000 to his wife, his relatives and a great number of friends and employes. The widow's share will be about $16,000,000. All his employes received gifts of from $500 to $2,000 cash.

Charitable, religous and educational institutions, which receive the largest bequests, are to share the residue of the estate left after definite gifts of approximately $12,000,000 have been paid out. Some of the leading bequests follow:

Presbyterian board of foreign missions	$ 2,500,000
Presbyterian church extension fund	2,250,000
Presbyterian hospital, New York	2,250,000
Robert college, Constantinople	1,500,000
Presbyterian board of aid for colleges	750,000
American Bible society	750,000
Yale college	100,000
Amherst college	100,000
Williams college	100,000
Dartmouth college	100,000
Bowdoin college	100,000
Hamilton college	100,000
Tuskegee Normal and Industrial institute	100,000
Hampton Normal school and Agricultural institute	100,000

Millions for Widow.

Mrs. Kennedy, besides receiving the million-dollar residence, the summer home at Bar Harbor and the banker's valuable laboratory and art collections, also inherits $1,000,000 in cash and a $12,000,000 share in the residuary estate.

Mr. Kennedy, whose death on Sunday occurred with only brief comment by the press, was one of the millionaire philanthropists whose gifts, though measured in millions, were made with as little glare of publicity as possible.

He gave quietly, lived unostentatiously and made his princely fortune with little blare of trumpets. Besides being a banker, he was one of the country's chief builders of railroads, a patron of art and education, and in his own quiet way one of New York's foremost advocates of scientifically organized charity.

Although well known to the great financial leaders, as well as to those most active in the great benevolent work of the day, his way of doing business and of doing good was so quiet that the public heard little about him.

TILLMAN ASSISTS IN WELCOMING TAFT

GEORGIA ENTHUSIASTIC

President Sees Negro Blown Into Air by Explosion While Firing Salute.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Nov. 6.—President Taft headed a procession of automobiles through the principal business streets soon after his arrival. He was cheered by immense crowds while on his way to the home of Mayor Rhett, where he passed the night.

Mr. Taft is no stranger in Charleston. He has been here five times in recent years and said today in Savannah that he was going "home to Charleston."

The President was the guest of honor at a banquet tendered to him by the city of Charleston. It was arranged with special regard to the President's comfort, and the only set speeches were the introduction of the President by Mayor Rhett and the response by Mr. Taft, in which he expressed his gratification at being in Charleston and his regret that he could not make a longer stay. The President will leave tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock for Columbia, S. C.

Tillman Present.

Governor Ansel and Senators Tillman and Smith arrived in Charleston to assist in the welcome to the President and were among the guests of honor at the banquet. This is the best presidential reception in which Senator Tillman has participated in a good many years. Until Mr. Taft was inaugurated, Mr. Tillman had not even been a caller at the White House for a long time.

President Taft had a busy day in Savannah. In a sail down the river to Fort Screven, he witnessed an accident in which it was thought at first five men had been killed. As matters turned out, one man, a negro, lost his arm, and another his eye.

The two men were firing a salute to the President from a small cannon drawn up at the water front. A premature explosion occurred as the negro was ramming home a charge of powder. In the cloud of smoke which followed the report of the cannon, the President saw a man flying through the air. The man fell into the river.

The ramrod which he had held, shot across the bow of the revenue cutter Yamacraw, on the deck of which the President was standing. Mr. Taft called attention to the accident at once. The man struggling in the water was rescued. When the President landed and made inquiries as to the accident, he was relieved to find there had been no loss of life.

The President participated in a parade through the streets and parks of Savannah. He then went for a fast spin over the automobile course.

The automobile ride was interrupted to permit the President to stop for a few minutes at the Bethesda Orphan home, where he made a speech to the

ATTORNEY ARRESTED FOR INCITING RIOT

SPOKANE LAWYER DENOUNCES AUTHORITIES.

Bread and Water Diet Is Having Its Effect on the Insurgents.

Crane, an attorney, was arrested today for denouncing in a street speech recent actions of the police and firemen toward the Industrial Workers of the World. From his office window he had made a brief address, and then descended to the sidewalk, where Chief of Police Sullivan and Deputy Sheriff Logan were waiting for him.

The lawyer fought his captors, and at the station was charged with having incited a riot. Policemen said that, previous to his speech, Crane had been active in the crowd, remonstrating with the men when they started to connect a line of hose with a hydrant to throw water upon some men who refused to go on.

Earlier in the day, 11 arrests were made. In the police court, Justice Mann disposed of 10 cases, sentencing a majority of the prisoners to 30 days at hard labor.

The bread-and-water diet for those who had been sentenced and refuse to work, is beginning to have an effect, and there are signs of weakening among the prisoners.

COLORADO COULDN'T BE WORSE, SHE SAYS

STATEMENT OF SUFFRAGETTE COMFORTING.

A Mere Man Questioning Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, Blends in the Plate.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—"You never will be able to solve satisfactorily the great social, industrial and other problems of civilization without the co-operation of the women through the exercise of the elective franchise," declared Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, English suffragette leader, in an address tonight. Before an audience composed mostly of women, Mrs. Pankhurst, following an address of two hours on "Why Women Want to Vote," submitted to a rapid fire of interruptions by men and women on various phases of the suffrage "cause."

"Why is it," interjected a feeble-voiced man in the rear of the auditorium, "that in Colorado, where woman possesses the franchise, politics is more corrupt than in some other states?"

Explaining that she was no familiar with political conditions in Colorado, Mrs. Pankhurst replied that it would be impossible for any more corrupt conditions to exist in Colorado than she had found in some of the states through which she had passed.

Mrs. Pankhurst referred to some of the demonstrations of suffragettes on the house of commons.

"We want to vote in England," she declared, "not to be like men, not to usurp their rights or to imitate them, but to get that protection of our interests to which we are entitled."

BOILER EXPLOSION ON SPEEDY BATTLESHIP

ENDURANCE RUN STOPS WHEN FOUR ARE HURT.

New North Dakota Looks Like the Fastest Giant of the American Navy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—As the new battleship North Dakota was completing her four-hour endurance run at a 21-knot gait off the New England coast today, with the battleship speed championship of America almost in her grasp, a boiler room accident robbed her of the laurels and sent her scurrying into this port to land four injured men.

Tonight, it was reported from the navy yard that all the men would probably recover, but it was feared Souden might lose his sight. In addition to the four men brought ashore, 12 others suffered from scalding, but their injuries are of a minor character.

The ship, nevertheless, exceeded her contract requirement of 21 knots an hour, making 21.71 in the first two hours, 21.64 in the third hour and 21 knots flat as she hurried in on the fourth hour to this port.

The injured men are William H. Grange, water tender; John Souden, coal passer; A. Peterson, fireman, and Peter McConnell fireman. Souden was badly scalded.

The North Dakota jogged out of the Penobscot shortly after sunrise today, increasing her steam as she proceeded until at 1 o'clock she was well south of Mohegan.

Shortly after that she began her trial. On the first two hours, the engines developed 32,000 horsepower, and the water rate was well above the contract. A few minutes after the battleship had passed Cape Ann, and while she was entering the fourth hour of her test, a seven-inch tube in one of the lower rows of boilers blew out and filled the room with steam. The engineers immediately cut off four of the 14 boilers.

As soon as the extent of the injuries of the firemen had been ascertained, the North Dakota was swung around and headed back up the coast for this port, where it was known a good harbor could be reached shortly after the expiration of the time limit. All four injured men urged the engineer force to disregard their injuries and keep the battleship on her work. Under the 10 boilers, 21 knots was maintained for the balance of the time, and at 4 o'clock the North Dakota steamed into this harbor and sent the injured men ashore.

The defective tube was replaced and arrangements were made to leave at midnight for the 24-hour run at a speed of 19 knots an hour.

The battleship is expected at Boston lightship at midnight tomorrow. On this run it will be decided whether there will be a continuation of the trials and whether the four-hour test will be repeated.

NOTED EDUCATOR DEAD

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—William Torrey Harris, former United States commissioner of education, died here tonight. Mr. Harris' work in educational lines gained for him international recognition. His death came at the completion of a new edition of Webster's New International Dictionary, in which, by the development of a system which he had worked out, are compacted 400,000 words, derivations and phrases. He was editor in chief of the dictionary.

MORE LIGHT THROWN ON TUBERCULOSIS; LABOR UNIONS TO HAVE CHARGE TONIGHT

Tonight's program at the tuberculosis exhibit at the Durkee building will be under the auspices of the labor unions of this city. The principal address of the evening will be made by Dr. R. W. Corwin, superintendent of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company hospital at Pueblo. George Hulls, president of the Federated Trades council in Denver, and former president of the State Federation of Labor, E. G. Coray, deputy factory inspector, and John McLennon, president of the State Federation of Labor, will also speak. Charles Deacon, superintendent of the Union Printers home, will preside and short talks will be given by the following: Harry Douthwaite, W. C. Daily, R. C. Wright, Peter Schmitt, W. C. Whitthorne, and Dr. J. G. White.

The arrangements for the meeting were made by a committee consisting of R. H. Rubey, E. Martin, W. S. Walton, T. J. Jones, A. Bodell, R. C. Wright, W. J. Wood, Joseph Hildrich and J. C. Parsons, from the Building Trades council, and J. K. Radley, C. J. Hase, W. C. Whitthorne, G. W. Ross and Joe Parson.

"Now go out into this healing Colorado air without feeling ashamed of consumption, and wake tomorrow morning determined to be healthy, to observe the rules of sanitation, and to do your small part, as taught us here tonight, to further the education of all to stamp out the evil."

This was the parting advice of Rush L. Holland, who presided at the meeting under the auspices of the fraternal orders of the city, last night.

Representatives from various fraternal societies took part in the meeting. Father Clark of the Glockner sanitarium, spoke for the Knights of Columbus; Dr. J. E. White, for the M. W. of A.; the Rev. E. Evans-Carrington for the W. O. W., and A. P. Toombs, for the Knights of Pythias. Dr. C. F. Stough delivered a very instructive and interesting address on "Tuberculosis of the Bones and Joints."

Father Clark was the first speaker. He spoke in part as follows:

Father Clark's Address.

While searching for a title it occured to me that I could not select a more appropriate one that the one entitled, "Some Sins of a Tubercular Patient." Under this title you will not hear anything sensational, for I shall speak of sin only as it means a violation of the laws of sanitation.

We are assured by the testimony of experts that tuberculosis is one of the most preventable of diseases. And with this testimony staring us in the face, is it not a reflection, is it not a deplorable fact, is it not a blot cast upon the pages of the history of our progress and civilization that tuberculosis is one of the most common of diseases. And what excuse can we offer, what reason can we assign for the widespread ravages of the tubercular germ? I think it can be truth-

FORBES PHILIPPINE GOVERNOR GENERAL

Capable Service Won Promotion. Colton Inaugurated in Porto Rico Today.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—W. Cameron Forbes, vice governor general of the Philippines, has been named by President Taft as governor general to succeed James Smith, whose resignation has been accepted to take effect November 11, at the expiration of his leave of absence.

Mr. Forbes has been acting for several months as governor general in the absence of Mr. Smith. The manner in which he administered the duties of his difficult position won for him the admiration of the President, who announced his decision tonight in a telegram to a high official here.

SAN JUAN, P. R., Nov. 5.—Col. G. R. Colton, who will be inaugurated as governor of Porto Rico tomorrow in succession of Regis S. Post, arrived today. He was met at the pier by a large crowd of Porto Ricans. Acting governor Ward, with a committee of prominent business men and public officials, went aboard the steamer and extended him a hearty welcome.

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Diet Specialist.

DIET IN TUBERCULOSIS.

Consumption is the wasting of the lung tissue, abnormally. The germ, always present in healthy persons in cities, lives in the decaying tissue, as the necessary accompaniment of the disease, accelerating the wasting process as rats eat grain sacks. Not killing the germs would only retard the death of the patient in that particular way. There is needed abundance of pure air to blow off the waste accumulating in the lungs, exercise to establish active circulation for active respiration, open skin, active kidneys, with plenty of good water, preferably distilled, sunshine, good mental condition, proper rest, and most important of all, good food.

Albumen, usually stated by high temperature, is of prime importance for the repair of tissue [illegible] as the fever and night sweats indicate. Eggs are all reasonably needed, even if cooked only, for all animal food tends to putrify, even under favorable conditions. Nuts are good, especially the peanut. It contains a delicate, easily assimilated albumen unmasked. A liberal supply of fat is necessary, for there is an extraordinary consumption of fat. Peanut fat is most easily assimilated. Cocoa, dry bread, with prepared, unroasted Virginia peanuts, eaten from the shell, are the best diet in consumption with fresh eggs for supper and apples for breakfast.

UNKNOWN MAN FOUND DEAD AT THE ANTLERS

IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE DIED OF ALCOHOLISM.

Woman in Case Held for Investigation, but May Be Released Today.

The man who died at the Antlers hotel yesterday morning is believed to have been William Lytle, member of a prominent Murfreesboro, Tenn., family and grandson of a famous Confederate general, W. F. Lytle, according to a special dispatch to The Gazette from Murfreesboro early this (Saturday) morning.

Lytle's death recalls the suicide of Mary Lytle, alias Mary Cox, in a Chicago hotel in 1879, after a stormy career [illegible].

That James Cox or W. R. Lytle, whichever may be his real name, who was found dead in bed in his room at the Antlers hotel yesterday morning at 4 o'clock by his companion, Jennie Mitchell of Denver, died of acute alcoholism is the belief of Coroner D. F. Law. County Physician E. L. McKinnie confirms Coroner Law's opinion. However, Assistant District Attorney M. W. Purcell asked that the woman be held in the county jail until this morning that he might hear her story.

Alarmed by the fact that she was no longer able to hear the breathing of the man, the Mitchell woman, who had accompanied him here from Denver, Thursday afternoon, became alarmed

New Automobile Road to Crystal Park Will Open to Public One of Nature's Most Charming Nooks

More than two miles of the automobile road to beautiful Crystal Park has been completed and the entire road will be finished this fall ready for operation and the opening, early in the spring, of this newest scenic attraction of the Pikes Peak region.

The construction work is being done by the Aztec Construction company, and is being financed by Charles B. Van Nostrand of New York city. W. C. Dotterer of this city is president of the Aztec Construction company and of the Crystal Park company, which will have charge of the management.

It is the intention of the Crystal Park company to build a commodious cafe containing sunparlors and every modern convenience for the visitor, and it is probable that throughout the park attractive bungalows will be constructed. As the delights of the park become better known, a large number of rustic cabins will also undoubtedly be built.

Five Big Autos Here.

Already the company has had delivered in this city five 20-passenger Packard automobiles, built especially for transporting tourists up the eight miles of 6 per cent grade. The highway starts near the Balanced Rock station of the street car company and winds up Sutherland canon to the park. At the head of the canon begins a series of 20 switchbacks, which lift the roads, in a constantly changing panorama of delightful scenes, to an elevation permitting an easy grade to the natural gateway of the park.

The rock formations on the way to the park require no stretch of the imagination to show weird and wonderfully lifelike shapes even to the untaught eye. Here there is a perfect head nicknamed "King George," on account of the pompous and haughty carriage of the features. Near him is the Sphinx, immovable as the centuries, looking off into the valley, as he has done for ages. And, with a startling distinctness sure to catch the average eye, there looms a touring car, perfect in every detail, tonneau and all. The road is almost one of a thousand wonders.

Two huge masses of rock form the natural gateway to the park itself. One of the guardian domes reaches many hundreds of feet into the air, while the other is slightly smaller.

Entering the park, the visitor is at once struck with its similarity to a great amphitheater, set off in the background by the knob of Cameron's Cone. Two square miles of mingled meadow and forest, offering many delightful nooks for picnics and other outings, with trails leading to many points of interest, including the top of Cameron's Cone, cannot fail to attract.

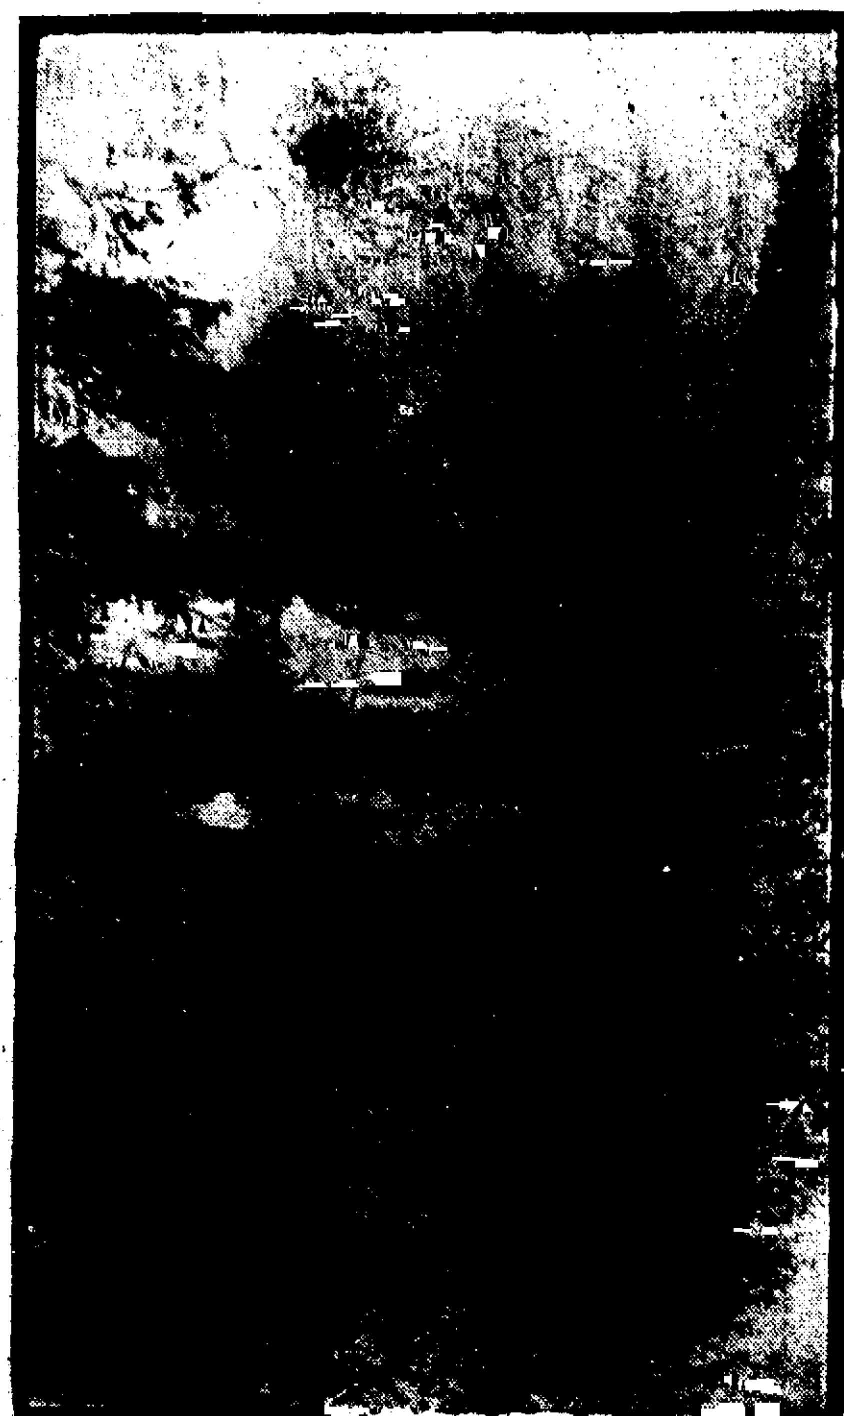

Within the park, the rested eye travels to the mountain streams which bubble through the valley, furnishing an abundant supply of pure water, while off to the northwest looms Pikes Peak itself, the guardian of all.

Crystal Falls, in the upper part of the park, is one of the many charming spots. Here the rippling water, splashed from three successive stony shelves and then continues its tempestuous way through the valley.

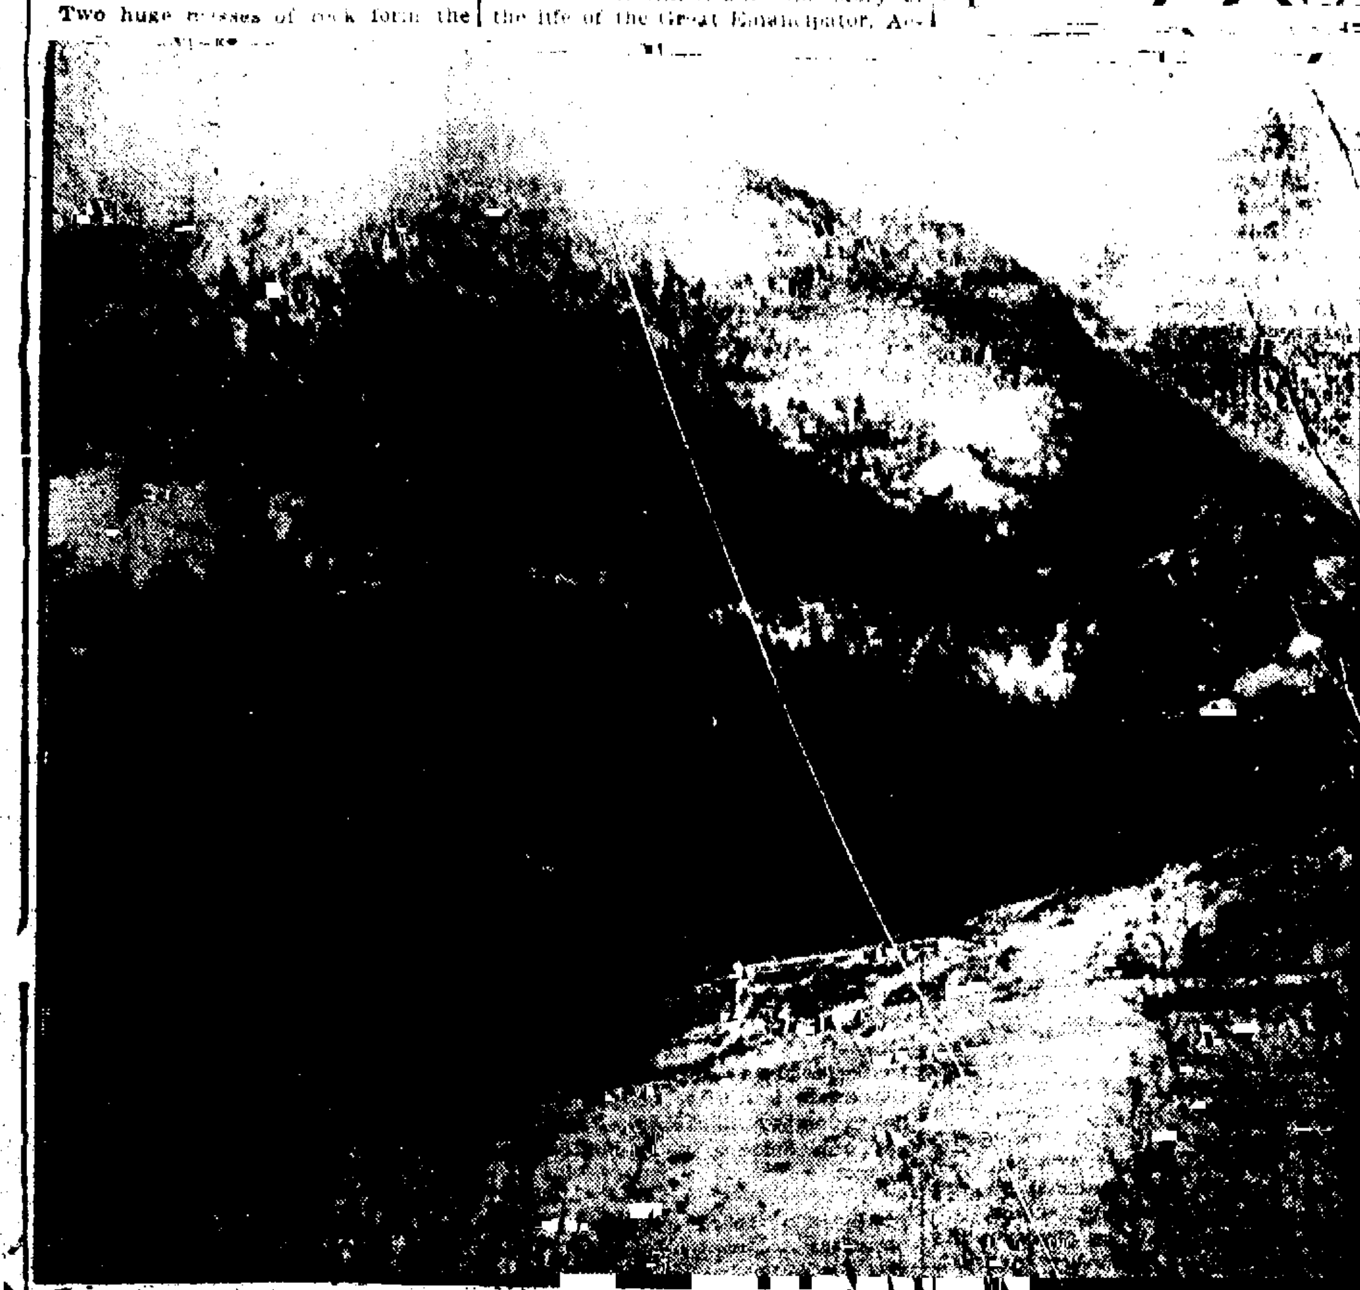

Natural Ice Cave.

As a source of the stream, and also as a source of future interest to those who will visit here, is a natural ice cave, formed and protected by overhanging sheets of rock, which hardly admit the sightseer. Here the snows of winter and the seepings from the underground springs of the mountains, collect and form the natural wonder. Small though it be in size, the cave is sure to become one of the points of surpassing interest in the park.

Only once for any length of time has the soil of the park been trampled by the foot of man. Then, indeed, there was no profanation, for no less a one than the late John Hay here stayed for a time. And here, too, he wrote that biography of surpassing interest to all Americans—the story of the life of the Great Emancipator. Accompanied by John Nicholay, Hay spent a summer here some years ago, and in the secluded and beautiful surroundings, wrote the words which were to add to his own fame and to the tender love of a united people for their martyred President.

VIRGINIA FOREST FIRES

Hunters Start Conflagration That Is Devastating Great Areas of Timber Land.

WINCHESTER, Va., Nov. 5.—Forest fires in this section continues to rage fiercely today. Unless rain falls within a few hours the property loss will be enormous. Thousands of acres of valuable timber land in the Great North mountains have been laid waste.

Started by hunters on Monday, the fire has now raged for four days in the Great North, Massenuten and Blue Ridge mountains. The town of McGaheysville, Rockingham county, was threatened with destruction and only late last night did citizens of the town check the flames.

Large hotel buildings at Black Rock springs, in the Blue Ridge, near Crottoes, were burned, as were 27 cottages. Orkeny Springs is also in great danger.

UNKNOWN MAN

shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday morning and asked the hotel office to summon a doctor. Dr. Peabody was called, and after an examination declared that Lytle had been dead for an hour.

The couple registered at the Antlers as man and wife about 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and were seen by no one, except bellboys, from that time until Dr. Peabody entered the room.

Another Mystery.

Telegrams were sent by Coroner Law to James Cox, Sr., of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and to Elander Cox of Nashville, Tenn., one of whom is supposed to be the dead man's father. No reply was received from the message to Nashville, but Evander Lytle of Murfreesboro wired a description to make sure of the identity of the dead man. Whether the dead man's name is Lytle or Cox is one of the puzzling questions which has not yet been answered. It is not known how the telegram sent to Cox fell into Lytle's hands.

In Los Angeles, where the man had represented the Juvenile company, he was known as James Cox. In Denver where he was employed for some time until 18 months ago, he was known as W. R. Lytle.

Henry Michaelson, representative of a New York jewelry company, told Coroner Law yesterday in Denver that he cashed a $25 draft on Elander Cox of Nashville, Wednesday, at the Brown Palace hotel, for the man who died here yesterday. Michaelson had promised Lytle or Cox a position as traveling salesman.

The man registered as W. R. Lytle at the Brown Palace hotel last Tuesday upon his arrival from Los Angeles. Wednesday he moved to the Shirley. He spent his time in drinking and carousing, and met Jennie Mitchell Wednesday evening.

The Woman's Story.

The Mitchell woman last night told the following story:

"Lytle told me that he had been drunk ever since he left California and said he wanted to come to Colorado Springs to sober up. He said that $250 had been wired to the Western Union office for him here and that he could not get the money at the Denver office. We came to the Antlers hotel and I was not out of the room until I was brought to police headquarters this morning. Lytle was out of the room and down in the lobby about 15 minutes. He was not drunk when he arrived here, neither had we been drinking on the train. He had a pint of whisky in his suit case, and we got two bottles of beer during the night. I took only one small drink of the whisky, for I don't like the stuff, and that drink was to secure his promise that he would not drink again for half an hour.

"Lytle was not feeling well and had trouble in breathing. Early in the evening I rang for a bellboy and sent him to a drug store to get some medicine. He brought me some ammonia, and I gave Lytle 10 drops. This seemed to relieve him for a while. About 4 o'clock I became worried because he was so quiet and called for a doctor."

The Mitchell woman has been in Denver for several months and says that she has been working as a waitress. For several weeks she was employed at the Home Dairy restaurant, and later at the Shirley.

An autopsy held over the body by Drs. McKinnie and Peabody yesterday morning showed that the heart and other vital organs were in good condition. In the case of a habitual drunkard the heart would be affected, according to Dr. McKinnie, but death from acute alcoholism might leave no trace on the heart.

When Lytle's body was taken possession of by Coroner Law yesterday morning there were 19 cents in the pockets of his trousers. He had no jewelry of any kind. Lytle was about 28 years of age, and the Mitchell woman is about 24 years old.

YALE SAVING BACKS

C. & S. CUTS COAL RATE TO CENTRAL

DENVER, Nov. 5.—By announcing a reduction in the rate of coal shipments between Denver and Central City, it is asserted that the Colorado & Southern railway has acknowledged the power of the Colorado state railroad commission to adjust freight rates. But this was denied today by officials of the road. It is asserted the reduction is in accordance, however, with a ruling of the commission.

No Cough

Your doctor's approval of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral will certainly set all doubt at rest. Do as he says. He knows. J. C. Ayer Co.

Have not coughed once all day? Yet you may cough tomorrow! Better be prepared for it when it comes. Ask your doctor about keeping Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house. Then when the hard cold or cough first appears you have a doctor's medicine right at hand.

LEADERS OF SOCIETY ENTERTAIN LABORER

ST. LOUIS SCENE OF NOVEL SOCIAL FUNCTION.

Desire of Russian Immigrant to Celebrate Naturalization Patriotically Is Gratified.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 5.—Paul Reps, an immigrant laborer from Russia, was the guest of honor and patron today in a unique celebration. The leaders were women whose names are at the top of the social register, whose homes are the finest in St. Louis, and whose families are of the wealthiest. Reps received his final naturalization papers today. Two weeks ago he wrote to Mrs. W. K. Kavanaugh, wife of the president of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways association, informing her that he would become a citizen November 5, and asking her whether she could arrange with her friends for a celebration in his honor on that day—the greatest day of his life.

Mrs. Kavanaugh, while astounded had the letter investigated. She was told Reps was looking forward to celebrating his citizenship. He had spent $12 for court fees and was willing to expend $15 for a hall where Mrs. Kavanaugh and her friends could meet him if they would come.

The use of the hall was donated to Mrs. Kavanaugh, as was the pipe organ in it. Reps, an employe of the Frisco road, Mrs. Reps and their three children, were in the hall early. Among those who attended, besides Mrs. Kavanaugh, were Mrs. F. H. Kreisman, wife of the mayor of St. Louis, Mrs. Edward L. Pretorious, wife of a newspaper publisher, and Mrs. Wallace C. Capen.

"America" and other patriotic songs were sung by a chorus of the social leaders. These were followed by bugle calls and war songs.

In his letter to Mrs. Kavanaugh, Reps wrote:

I want to be a good patriot, good citizen, and this event in my life I want to remember as something great. Old Russia for me are dead. Is it possible for $10 or $15 for us to hear in respectable manner and place, to hear once singing "America," "Banner of Country," or other American patriotic song and even accompanied by fine music. We think it very bad and disgrace as mostly immigrants in such event, induced by politicians to take naturalization, drink much beer, use bad language and fight.

THREE JAILED FOR DENVER BURGLARY

DENVER, Nov. 5.—G. H. Gartley, George Robinson and Charles Morris, a 16-year-old messenger boy, were arrested today. The police claim that the two men and the boy know something about the burglary at the home of Henry Jagels, a mining man, in which two suitcases, one containing $20,000 worth of mining stocks and leases and other papers, were stolen October 24. A pawn ticket for a diamond brooch was found on one of the men. The trio recently came from Chicago and are said to answer descriptions furnished by neighbors of the Jagels.

"HONEST JOHN" MAY PAY FOR RIVER TRIP

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Governor Shafroth today requested an opinion from the attorney general in regard to the payment of his salary while absent from the state. Should the attorney general decide that he should forfeit it, Governor Shafroth will refund money received for the time spent out of the state when on the Mississippi river trip with Taft.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 5—President Taft slept late today and delayed the start of the program of sightseeing arranged for his last day in Savannah by nearly one hour. The President left at 2 o'clock this afternoon for Charleston.

Mr. Taft made a happy speech at the banquet given in his honor. He was the last on the long program.

Refers to "Ty" Cobb.

At one time during his speech there were cries of "second term," and the old Cleveland yell of "four years more." The President said he had the same friendly expressions from one audience in the District of Columbia.

"Therefore," he added, amid laughter, "I accept such a demonstration as an evidence of profound good fellowship and appreciate it. I pass over the matter of judgment and power."

The President made a great hit with his audience by referring to "Ty" Cobb, the famous batsman of the Detroit American league baseball team as one of the distinguished citizens of Georgia.

CATTLEMEN ON TRIAL FOR MURDER AT BASIN

BASIN, Wyo., Nov. 5.—Assistant Prosecutor P. W. Metz today made the opening statement for the state in the case of Leroy Brink, one of the seven cattlemen charged with the murder of three sheep herders in the Tensleep country last summer. After his statement, Sheriff Alston, County Surveyor Morton and Dr. Walker described the scene of the crime and the finding of the bodies. William Goodrich and his wife, on whose evidence the state is said to depend to obtain conviction, and who were supposed to have left the state, arrived in Basin today. The town is filling up with cattle and sheep men, but it is thought that the county authorities and the militia will be able to prevent any violence.

ENGLAND AND GERMANY MAY GET TOGETHER

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—The possibility of an Anglo-German understanding appears to be under consideration in high German government circles. The failure to reach such an understanding heretofore is attributed to the method adopted by Great Britain. After Sir Charles Hardinge undersecretary of the British foreign office, failed to obtain a satisfactory reply to his suggestion made at the meeting between King Edward and Emperor William at Kronberg, King Edward is understood to have tried to persuade the emperor of Austria, whom he met in Ischl, to make friendly representations to Germany.

NEW YORK CELEBRATION FESTIVAL OF GOOD WILL

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—Large numbers of Germans and Americans met tonight for a "German-American evening," a function held two or three times each year. The principal speaker was Grand Admiral Von Koester, who gave an attractive account of his recent visit to the Hudson Fulton celebration at New York. The admiral said the celebration became a festival of peace and international good will because the Americans believed in the peaceful intentions of Germany. He said also he found the general sentiment among Americans was that the two peoples belong together.

MILLINERY BUSINESS PROSPERITY'S INDEX

HASKIN REVEALS SECRETS OF THE TRADE.

America's Millinery Bill Equal to Cost of World's—Following the Styles.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

The National Millinery Jobbers association now holding its annual convention in New York, is an organization concerned more with the financial side of the millinery business than with the artistic. The millinery business in the United States is a barometer which registers the slightest variation in the prosperity of the country. Americans are at once the most prosperous and the most extravagant people in the world, and both qualities are shown in the fact that the American millinery bill is larger than that of all the rest of the world combined. Paris makes the styles, Paris makes the prices, and Paris makes the hats, but it is not alone for the Parisienne. Of course there are many smartly-dressed women in Paris, probably more than in any other city, but even in that vortex of the whirlpool of fashion it is only the few who have either the desire or the money to follow the vagaries of the milliners.

In the United States, on the other hand, there is not a village, however remote, to which the fashion journals do not penetrate, and in which the feminine heart is not enslaved to its own conception of what is the smartest and the latest thing in hats. In fact, if Paris is the alpha of millinery, then is Podunk the omega, for verily it is in the backwoods villages that styles and hats reach the extreme of faddishness.

The village belle and the farmer's daughter of La Belle France go through their thrifty youth with never a thought of aping the hats of the grand ladies of Paris. The American village belle and farmer's daughter are subscribers to the smartest fashion magazines, and their hats must be built in exact imitation of the newest pictures in the gayest of fashion plates. And all of this means more money for the milliners. Prices of women's hats run a long scale upward from the country store where a $5 hat is considered a "creation," up to the smart city shop where it is absolutely impossible to find anything that looks like a hat for less than $25, and where even the $25 customer must quail before the lifted eyebrows and upturned nose of the saleslady.

Courageous Women.

Every spring and fall the women of the United States who buy cheap hats exhibit more courage than ever has been exhibited by any army on any battlefield in the history of warfare. If it is humiliating not to buy the highest-priced hat in the shop, it is disgraceful to buy the cheapest one. It is not to be supposed for an instant that milliners are unaware of this condition of affairs. They know that many women are brave enough to haggle over the price and to actually buy a cheap hat, but they also know that there are thousands who are frightened into paying the greater price. They also know, learned as they are in the ways of woman-nature, that there are thousands and thousands of women who are perfectly willing to buy a $10 hat if only it so be that they are required to pay $20 for that same hat. Milliners, in their confidential moments, will confess that they are able to recognize such women at sight and that when one comes into the shop all prices are doubled automatically.

Large shops and department stores put the prices on the hats in plain figures, thereby preventing the sliding scale from operating. However, there is many a woman who goes into the large shop and buys a hat on the virtue of the plainly marked price tag, who is very much delighted if none of her friends discovers where she got that hat. One of the strangest features of this particular business is that while no mere man may hope to understand the vagaries of the fashions, or hazard a guess as to the probable cost of a hat, yet it is the man milliner who is at the bottom of the whole thing. The vast majority of the working milliners, those who make and trim the hats, are women. But the designers, the merchants and the jobbers are men, and it is they who direct the semiannual assault of the milliners upon the bank balances of the nation.

Profits Huge.

In no other branch of ordinary mercantile business are profits so great as in women's hats. However, the milliner is able to set up a very forceful argument in defense of his 500 per cent profit. In the first place, the hats of one season are as useless six months later as the birds' nests of yesteryear. In theory, they are absolutely dead stock. As a matter of fact, however, very few trimmed hats are carried forward from one season to another, the manufacturing end of the business being in such close relation with the selling agencies, and shrewd observers have discovered that radical changes in the styles of hat shapes never take place when the wholesale houses are carrying a surplus stock of last season's shapes. After all, it is the jobbers who direct the current of the styles.

But perhaps a more cogent argument in defense of huge profits in millinery is that which relates to the selling end of the business. Any business man who complains to a millinery merchant of the unjust and unreasonable profit levied upon women's hats, is invited to spend the day in the hat salesroom. There is not one man in a million who would go forth from such a demonstration without being convinced that a milliner is justified in charging all that the traffic will bear. It is estimated that the average woman in the city who buys a $15 hat consumes the time of one or more salesmen for two hours in each of eight shops, a total of 16 hours to a hat. Of course, there are many who devote at least a whole day in each one of these shops for the selection of the fall hat, but there are others who visit only one shop, and these cut down the average. It is not the fur and feathers and ribbons and velvets and buckles and so on that make the hat cost. It is the ephemeral character of the styles, and the great difficulty and patience necessary to sell the product to the ultimate consumer.

$135,000,000 a Year.

Domestic manufacturers make artificial feathers, flowers and other millinery trimmings to the value of about $50,000,000 a year; about three-fourths of this is made in New York city alone. This does not include straw, braid, ribbon, silk, velvet, wire, fur, plush, or any of the materials which go to make up the body of the hats. Neither does it include the imported millinery supplies. It is very difficult to obtain accurate statistics concerning the millinery business, as the manufacturers' prices are manifolded many times before the retail shopkeeper makes his sale. One conservative statistician has estimated that it costs $135,000,000 a year to furnish American women with headgear. This is an average of less than $3 a year for each American woman, and probably is much below the mark. While there may be some railing against the milliners and their prices in the privacy of American households, at only one point have the milliners been attacked publicly in an organized fashion. The Audubon societies in seeking to protect the wild birds which are slaughtered to satisfy feminine vanity, have made some serious attacks upon the millinery business.

One writer estimates that more than 300,000,000 wild birds annually give their lives as a sacrifice upon the altar of Dame Fashion. The milliners utterly repudiate these figures, declare that they are grossly maligned and that the tales of cruelty to birds are vastly exaggerated. The millinery trade journals vigorously defend their calling against such attacks as those of the Audubon societies and those made by some ministers. They deny that the women create the vain and foolish fashions so much criticised, and they have courage boldly to assert that it is the whims and fancies of the men which force the women to deck themselves in such outlandish headgear. They say that the average man demands that the women of his acquaintance shall follow the styles regardless of where those styles may lead them.

Styles Imported.

Styles in millinery are usually imported from Paris. The dress designers there ransack the fashion plates of the past and the dreams of the future for ideas upon which to build new hats. Living models, whose duty it is to wear good clothing well, are equipped with the latest creations and sent to the opera, the race track and such places to permit the world to get its first glimpse of the new styles. If the Parisian world does not approve, the style is abandoned. Sometimes, however, it is impossible to obtain a clear verdict. This was the case with the famous peach-basket hat. Parisian millinery manufacturers in this hat evolved something so ridiculous that the French women absolutely refused to buy them. The consequence was that the whole stock was dumped into the American market, where it was eagerly bought up at triple prices by women who were willing to wear anything, however ridiculous, if only it bore the label "made in Paris." This peach-basket hat incident was the inspiration of the present crusade for American styles for American women.

The millinery jobbers in New York today will discuss styles and other interests of their business in serene security. They are absolutely certain of the fact that as long as there is any money in the United States they will have their share in the division. Fancy millinery may have been a luxury in the days of our grandmothers it is now a necessity.

REARS FUR SEAL PUPS

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—On the revenue cutter Bear, bound from Seattle to San Diego, Cal., are two fur seal pups brought by Boatswain Judson Thurber. His success in rearing the infants has aroused hope that extermination of the American seal herd may be averted.

MINERS BURIED ALIVE

CARLIN, Nev., Nov. 5.—Frank Moddy and Will Anderson, miners were buried under tons of rock and earth this afternoon, when timbers on the 108-foot level of the Nevada King mine, 12 miles north, gave way. A wagon load of volunteers left here on receipt of the news, and are at work in the hopes of taking the men out alive.

HIGH SCHOOL PUPILS GO ON THE WARPATH

CLEVELAND SCENE OF NOVEL WALKOUT.

All Day Sessions and High Prices of Lunches Cause Changes Boy Follow.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 5.—All-day sessions, broken only by "pink tea" luncheons at high prices, is the grievance of the 500 pupils of the West High school, whose strike was received at the close of the school week this afternoon until Monday. A meeting of the school board had been called for Monday to consider complaints of the students, which resulted in their walking out last Tuesday.

The main grievance of the boys is against the forenoon and afternoon sessions. They want to work in the afternoons. The girls are objecting to the prices for the luncheon menu, although boys of the football squad assert that they cannot cover their colors with glory on cream puffs and caramel ice cream or on pickles at 1 per cent each. Cup cakes and oranges, they declare, are unmanly.

As to the double sessions, the girls also have made complaint. They maintain the art of domestic science, such as cooking, sweeping and washing dishes at home, is sadly neglected when they are compelled to remain in the class rooms all day.

School Director Orr finally announced that he was in favor of abolishing the lunch room concession and have the board of education supply wholesome lunches at cost. He visited the high school lunch room today and recommended several changes.

It is expected that a mass meeting of parents of the strikers will be held on Wednesday, when the question of double or single sessions will be left to them in a referendum vote. All the strikers are above the age which would give school officials legal authority to compel their attendance.

KENNEDY'S BEQUESTS

Many of his great benefactions probably never were made public, but he figured in recent years as the giver of the $500,000 home of the United Charities in this city, of $1,000,000 to the Presbyterian hospital; $250,000 to the School of Philanthropy, $500,000 to Columbia university, and $100,000 to a nurses' home for the Presbyterian hospital.

Many even among the well-informed had little idea as to the real wealth of the retired banker. Early this year an interviewer was sent to Mr. Kennedy's house on his birthday to ask if he had any million-dollar gifts to announce.

"No, sir," exclaimed Mr. Kennedy. "I'm giving no money away today. It pretty nearly cleaned me out when I gave that fund to the hospital last October."

On Wall Street Mr. Kennedy had the reputation of keeping the largest cash balance in his bank accounts of any New York financier. As banker and investor he always showed great interest in the development of the northwest. He was identified with J. P. Morgan and James J. Hill in the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railway companies for many years and was a director in many railroads, life insurance companies and banking institutions.

Born near Glasgow in 1830, Mr. Kennedy came to America in 1850 as agent for an English iron and metal concern. In 1857 he joined the New York banking firm of Morris K. Jessup & Co., and 11 years later established the house of Kennedy & Co. He retired from active participation in the business in 1883.

FEMALE FAKE MINE PROMOTER CONVICTED

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Mrs. Anna Wheeler, "mining woman and promoter," said to have swindled hundreds in fake Nevada mining schemes, was convicted of fraud on three counts in the West Side court today. According to her victims she convinced them that she possessed clairvoyant powers, and that when under guidance of spirits, she had seen clouds of gold floating about their heads and drifting about their feet. She convinced them that all that was needed to precipitate the golden shower of shekels and success was an investment in Nevada mining property owned by her. Mrs. Wheeler's operations began in the height of the Goldfield excitement and she found no lack of dupes, her victims being laundresses, scrub women and milliners who invested the savings of years on promise of enormous dividends.

ELECTORS TO DECIDE AS TO FINANCE BILL

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Daily Telegraph says it understands that it has been definitely settled that Lord Lansdowne, leader of the opposition in the house of lords, will move a resolution in the upper branch of parliament, declining to accept the finance bill until its principles have received the sanction of the electors. The Daily Telegraph adds that it learns that the adoption of this resolution by the house of lords is certain.

VAN WYCK MAY BE M'CARREN'S SUCCESSOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Leading Brooklyn Democrats it was said tonight have decided upon former Justice Augustus Van Wyck as the successor of the late Patrick H. McCarren as leader of the Brooklyn Democracy. Mr. Van Wyck who was defeated for governor of New York by Theodore Roosevelt, has been in practical command since McCarren's death.

JAP POACHERS CAUGHT

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—The steamer Olympian arrived from Valdez, Alaska, today with 15 Japanese seal poachers aboard, captured by revenue cutters in Bering sea. They will be deported to Japan.

MARK TWAIN AND JUSTICE FULLER

From Harper's Weekly

Mark Twain was waiting for a street car in Boston, when a young girl approached him, smiling. She was a lovely girl, fresh, blooming, ingenuous, bubbling with enthusiasm, and evidently on her way home from school.

"Pardon me," she said. "I know it's very unconventional, but I may never have another chance. Would you mind giving me your autograph?"

"Glad to do it, my dear child," said Mr. Clemens, drawing out his fountain pen.

"Oh, it's so good of you," gurgled the girl. "You know, I've never seen you but once, Chief Justice Fuller, and that was at a distance, but I've seen your portrait so often that I recognized you the moment I saw you here."

"I'm—m—m—" said Mr. Clemens, noncommittally. Then he took from her eager hands her nice little autograph album and wrote in bold script these words:

"It is delicious to be full,
But it is heavenly to be Fuller.
I am, cordially yours,
MELVILLE W. FULLER."

Mr. Clemens has not heard from Chief Justice Fuller yet.

Some relief from the Cook-Peary controversy is afforded by the other question that is troubling Broadway, which is: "Does Hattie Williams shut her eyes when she fires the revolver in the third act of Detective Sparks?" The stage is too dark to make ocular observations, and Miss Williams declines to be interviewed, so the discussion is necessarily academic and obviously endless.

SAVE YOUR TEETH FROM THE SCOURGE OF PYORRHEA

Pyorrhea or Riggs' disease is the most dangerous and destructive of all the diseases of the teeth and mouth. It may be detected in the early stages by a slight soreness of the gums and tendency to bleed easily. As it becomes more advanced the gums become inflamed and sore, the teeth loosen and spread or move from their proper position and if allowed to continue will result in the loss of all the teeth. This disease is considered incurable by the majority of the dental profession. We are making a specialty of the treatment of this condition and have successfully treated a large number of cases, any of which we can give you as reference and furnish you with convincing evidence that we do permanently cure pyorrhea. If you have any of the symptoms we have described it is a dangerous condition, and you will lose your teeth unless they are properly treated. We are replacing missing teeth by the Maxillary Method and these are the most perfect artificial dentures made. Crowns, plates, dental bridgework, made by scientific methods that cannot be detected from the most perfect natural teeth. You cannot afford to lose your natural teeth, no matter what may be their present condition. We are saving teeth that are considered hopelessly decayed and diseased. Investigate our methods and let us explain our treatment to you. We are making a special offer for the month of November. Secure advantage of this by making your appointment now. Dr. Shaw, dentist, Barnes Building, 121 E. Pikes Peak Ave. Office hours, 8 a. m. to 6 p. m. Evenings, 7 to 8. Sundays, 9 to 12. Phone 916.

MORE LIGHT THROWN ON TUBERCULOSIS

fully stated that many tubercular sufferers either are ignorant of the laws of sanitation governing tuberculosis or if they are acquainted with them they totally disregard and violate them. And with some I am inclined to think that the latter is the case.

This evening I will not take up your time discussing the flagrant violator who publicly expectorates on the sidewalk, on the street, or in the street car. I can not find words strong enough to express my condemnation of such conduct.

Use of the Handkerchief.

But there is another violator who is even more dangerous than the one just referred to. He is the one whom you will meet on the street car, in the church, in the theater. He is the one whom I would call the handkerchief fiend. He is the one who makes frequent use of his handkerchief, filling it with thousands of tubercular germs and who afterwards, when that sputum has dried up, by the careless use of that handkerchief sends those germs floating through the air on their mission of destruction to be deposited in the system of some fellow being. Ladies and gentlemen, if a man, who by his wilful negligence brings death to a fellow man, be guilty of a criminal act, then I say that the man or woman who, through wilful carelessness, communicates to another the germ that may mean for him certain death, is equally guilty of a criminal act.

I have also observed that many tubercular patients when reading have the habit of coughing directly at the book which they are holding in their hands. In the case of a tubercular patient their cough very frequently contains a large number of tubercular germs. Now in the course of time the saliva thrown off from the mouth and deposited on the pages of the book dries up. That same book is again used by perhaps some healthy person and the chances are that he will receive into his system the germs that may mean for him a siege of tuberculosis. So you see what a dangerous habit this is. Now, right here it may not be out of place to call your attention to the obligation that those who are in charge of our public library, are under to see that the books contained in the library, are regularly and systematically fumigated. I trust that this is done, because if there ever was a place where a complete system of fumigation is necessary in a public library, it is right here in Colorado Springs, where we have so many tubercular sufferers living in our midst.

Handshaking.

Now I will call your attention to one more fault of tubercular patients and I will have done. I have observed that quite a few tubercular patients are prone to cough into their hands, especially into their right hands. Have you ever observed them do that on the street car or walking along the street? If you haven't, I have. Now, again, at first sight this may seem a perfectly harmless habit and not a violation of the laws of sanitation. But in reality it is otherwise. What I said a moment ago applies equally here. The saliva that is thrown off from the mouth is deposited in the hand. A little later the tubercular sufferer may meet one of you and extend you the hand of friendship. But in that grasp of friendship may be communicated to you the enemy of your lungs, and then it is only a question of time unless you are careful and use disinfectants until that germ finds its way into your system. If there be any tubercular sufferers in this audience tonight I want to warn them against this dangerous habit because I feel that if all tubercular cases could be traced back to their origin that more than one would be found that owes its origin to the existence of this dangerous habit.

Two Kinds of Tuberculars.

It has been scientifically proven that a careless, negligent tubercular sufferer is an undesirable citizen in the community in which he lives. He is a constant source of danger to himself because by his negligence he runs the great risk of reinfecting himself. And this is a truth that can not be brought home too forcibly to the one afflicted with tuberculosis. He is a menace to others because he exposes them to the danger of infection. But on the other hand it has been scientifically proven that the careful, conscientious tubercular sufferer is positively harmless and is a source of danger to no one. He only becomes so, however, by adhering strictly to the laws of sanitation, and by so doing he promotes his own chances for complete recovery a hundred fold and at the same time saves many a useful life from being sacrificed on the altar of tuberculosis.

Dr. White Speaks.

Dr. White, the head of the Modern Woodmen sanitarium, told of the beginnings of the sanitarium fund, and of the final burst of philanthrophy which made the suggestion for the home a reality.

"In 18 years we paid out over $10,000,000 in death claims which were caused by tuberculosis. Such an appalling record, on top of the wave of sentiment in favor of caring for our fellow men, made the proper care of the sick of our order a possibility. Now, I am happy to say that the death rate in our order from consumption has decreased from over 20 per cent to a little over 13 per cent. And I believe that that is due to the educational campaign which is now being waged.

Garbage Cans.

"My experience with garbage cans has always been that they are a fearful breeder of disease. The hotels seem to think that their own garbage is their private property, and so they sell it where they please. The result has proved to be, tuberculosis hogs and pigs. I cannot be too emphatic in my statement that all garbage ought to be burned and destroyed."

Dr. White closed with an urgent appeal to the people of the city to make Colorado springs so clean and healthful that anyone will be safe here.

Mr. Carrington Talks.

The Rev. Mr. Carrington believed above everything else that residents of the city should defend its climate against those who say that it is unhealthy, and then, that every resident should do all in his power to make it the most sanitary city on the face of the globe.

"What we need," said Mr. Carrington, "is not medicine, but the right kind of publicity. Let those outside the state know that we are doing everything to reduce the dangers of infection, let it be seen that we mean business, and we shall get our just dues. We must popularize this thing. And to do so we need the co-operation of each individual with the city health authorities."

Speaking for the Knights of Pythias, A. P. Toombs said that the order was a live and progressive one, numbering over 9,000 members, all of whom were ready and willing to enter the fight for tuberculosis.

"I believe the time is coming for us to speak out our convictions on these matters of health, and if the personal or municipal cleanliness is unsatisfactory, then those responsible should be punished. The lesson of the hour is in the teaching to help our fellow man—first, physically, next, mentally, and finally, spiritually."

Dr. Stough explained the origin of general tuberculosis, and then told how it was communicated to the bones. The symptoms and effects of the disease were graphically described in detail. His lecture, although somewhat technical, was exceedingly instructive and interesting.

Committees Named.

At a meeting of the committee in charge yesterday afternoon the following were appointed a committee of ways and means to take charge of the financial campaign: Mrs. F. W. Goddard, the Rev. J. H. Franklin and R. W. Chisholm. A committee to take charge of mass meetings, and engagements of like exhibits consists of the following: Dr. Henry W. Hoagland, Dr. P. O. Hanford and the Rev. J. H. Franklin. There will be a meeting of the committee at Dr. A. C. Magruder's office Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Not more than 200 school children visited the exhibit yesterday, although nearly 800 adults were present at the evening meeting. The total attendance for the day was over 1,200.

AMAZING IGNORANCE SHOWN BY STUDENTS

Only 18 of 24 Upperclassmen at Brown Know Taft's Full Name.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—None of the 24 members of Prof. Wilfred H. Monro's history class at Brown university, composed of seniors and juniors, was able to give correctly the full names of the President of the United States, a justice of the supreme court of the United States, the governor of Rhode Island, a justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island and the mayor of Providence, when the questions were proposed as a test today.

Professor Munro desired to make an experiment based on the recent attempt to obtain a constitutional amendment in Maryland requiring from voters ability to answer correctly similar questions.

Eighteen of the 24 members of the class gave correctly the President's full name and 2 only his last name. Not one succeeded in giving the full name of a justice of the United States supreme court. Seventeen had a name partly correct. Seven could not give even the last name of a justice.

Flattering Hearts

"I have had heart trouble for 40 years; after taking 18 bottles of Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy I am entirely cured, and to-day I do not feel the slightest effect of heart trouble." DAVID FRAZIER.

State Sold: Home, Erie Co., Ohio.

Fluttering indicates a weakness of the nerves and muscles of the heart. Like palpitation, shortness of breath, pain in side and shoulder, it is frequently followed by the worst form of heart disease, therefore it should not be neglected.

Dr. Miles' Nervine

is a most reliable heart medicine. It strengthens and regulates the heart action, stimulates the digestive organs, and increases the circulation.

The first bottle will benefit; if not, your druggist will return your money.

DR. O. G. WOODWARD APPEALS TO GOVERNOR

Special to The Gazette.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Nov. 5.—Dr. O. G. Woodward, a practicing physician of Colorado Springs, has appealed to Governor Harmon and Attorney General Denman from the action of the state medical board in denying him a certificate to practice in Ohio. Dr. Woodward, before he went west, was well known in this city and Cincinnati. He desired to come back to the state under the reciprocal act, but had been turned down by the board. Dr. George Watson, secretary of the board, said today that there were certain qualifications which must be presented, and this had not been done by Dr. Woodward.

The appelant graduated from the Stirling Medical college at Columbus, before going west.

FINED $2,500 ON CHARGE OF PEONAGE

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 5.—In the United States district court today, counsel for Robert Christian, whose trial for peonage opened yesterday announced that they would not resist a verdict of guilty, whereupon Judge James C. Boyd fined the defendant $2,500. This was paid. Christian, W. L. Smith and W. A. Perry, railroad contractors, were indicted for detaining negro employes who sought to escape from the construction camps, and to have forcibly brought back some who had escaped.

HISTORIC LIVINGSTON MANOR PREY OF FIRE

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Nov. 5.—The historic Livingston manor, owned by John Henry Livingston and situated near Tivolie, on the banks of the Hudson river, was destroyed by fire tonight. Livingston manor was made famous in history because it was in this house, which was erected in 1730 that Chancelor Livingston swore George Washington into office in 1789.

Waltham Watches

A Warning

The Waltham Watch Company in order to preserve the reputation of their watches and in order also to protect the people who buy Waltham Watches, hereby warn every one intending to buy a good watch, Waltham or any other, that it is not safe to buy a watch by catalogue from any of the mail order houses.

Buy a watch from a jeweler or watchmaker—because a professional watchmaker before he delivers you the watch you have bought will overhaul it, correct any damage that may have happened to it, see that it is properly oiled, and in short, get it running right and keep it right. The retail jeweler's own reputation is at stake when he sells you a watch.

It is very different when you simply order from a catalogue, send on the money, and get just a watch.

Waltham Watch Company

Waltham, Mass.

N. B. When buying a watch always ask your jeweler for a Waltham adjusted to temperature and position.

PUTS FLAG ON PEAK

Mrs. Helen Reine Peker of Spokane, Wash., Hoists Suffragette Banner on Top of Pikes Mountain.

Mrs Helen Reine Baker of Spokane, Wash., suffragette leader, and said to be the largest taxpayer in Washington, yesterday afternoon planted the banner of her party on the summit of Pikes Peak. The flag, which bears the inscription, "Votes for Women," is made of wool, linen and silk and was sent from the suffragette headquarters in New York city. It was made by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

The party, which consisted of Mrs. Baker and six suffragettes of Denver, went to the Peak in a special train yesterday afternoon and remained over night to see the sunrise this morning. They will return to the Antlers hotel this afternoon.

Mrs. Baker fastened the suffragette's black flag to a pole at the extreme northwest part of the summit, the highest spot on the Peak.

She was one of the eight delegates from America to the International Convention of Women in London, last spring.

BIG LAND DEAL CLOSED

Yates & McClain Sell Eighteen Thousand Acres in San Luis Valley to Eastern Men.

Eighteen thousand acres of the richest land in the San Luis valley have been sold by the Yates-McClain Realty company of this city to a Chicago syndicate headed by L. P. Hammond of Chicago and W. G. Infield of Rensselaer, Ind. The land is one of the best large bodies of irrigated land in the valley, and all but a few acres are improved. The syndicate expects to retail the land to settlers from Indiana and Illinois at about $75 an acre.

Yates and McClain have also sold to William Berneke of Spring Valley, Ill., a section of irrigated land near Alamosa.

The only exhibit from the San Luis valley at the United States Land and Irrigation exposition to be held in Chicago, from November 20 to December 4, will be the exhibit of the Yates-McClain Realty company, according to a member of the firm. The exposition will probably be attended by at least 50,000 people, as the National Land congress and the National Stock show will be in session there at the same time.

MANY FINE NEW HOMES PLANNED

COLO. SPRINGS REAL ESTATE IN BRISK DEMAND.

Drs. Solenberger and Faust, William Banning and Mrs. Scholl to Build at Once.

That building activity in Colorado Springs is rapidly increasing is shown, say local real estate dealers, by the fact that as many lots have been sold in the last few months as were sold in the same number of years before. The buyers of most of these lots have acquired them with the intention of building, and not simply to hold for a rise in values. This is shown by the contemplated erection of several fine dwelling houses in the best residence sections of the city.

The southeast corner of Cache la Poudre street and Nevada avenue is an example of this tendency. This block of land was formerly owned by Wm. Banning. Mr. Banning, who still owns the corner lot, with a frontage of 75 feet on Nevada avenue and 190 feet on Cache la Poudre street, recently sold to Dr. A. R. Solenberger the lot on the south and to Dr. F. A. Faust the next lot, 190 feet deep, with a frontage of 62 1-2 feet on Nevada avenue, for a consideration of $5,000. Dr. Faust will at once erect a 10-room modern residence and Dr. Solenberger and Mr. Banning will also build, so that within the week this fine corner will see the beginning of three modern dwellings costing many thousands of dollars. The deals were all consummated through the agency of Wills, Spackman and Kent.

The same real estate firm has sold, for Mrs. Magdulene Lattner, who owns a dwelling on the southeast corner of San Rafael and Weber streets, the adjoining lot to Mrs. Georgia C. Scholl, who will build a modern cottage on the property. The consideration is understood to have been about $2,000.

Another deal of interest is that by which the Cox estate has sold to Mrs. M. E. Fearis the lot immediately east of the southeast corner of St. Vrain and Institute streets, for $500. Mrs. Fearis will erect a five-room modern cottage in the near future. This property was also sold through the agency of Wills, Spackman and Kent.

The old, old story, told times without number, and repeated over and over again for the last 36 years, but it is always a welcome story to those in search of health. There is nothing in the world that cures coughs and colds as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Sold by all dealers.

Mayor Authorized to Make Necessary Regulations Small Fire Loss in October.

The City Council yesterday decided to authorize Mayor H. F. Avery to issue permits for the burning of leaves under such restrictions as he may consider necessary. No leaves may be burned after 4 p. m.

A request for 20 copies of the city charter from Spokane, Wash., was refused, as two copies have already been sent there, and the limited supply on hand is being reserved for citizens of Colorado Springs.

Commissioner A. J. Lawton was asked to investigate a bill for $144.85 presented by A. F. Martin and company for damages alleged to have been done during the July and August rains.

Fire Chief P. D. McCartin reported that the department responded to 24 alarms, three of which were false, in October. The total fire loss was $375, and the amount of insurance involved was $53,500.

When a cold becomes settled in the system, it will take several days' treatment to cure it, and the best remedy to use is Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will cure quicker than any other, and also leaves the system in a natural and healthy condition. Sold by all dealers.

SLOCUM SPEAKS AT TOME SCHOOL FOR BOYS

Dr. William F. Slocum, president of Colorado College, lectured on "Effectiveness" at the Tome School for Boys, at Deposit, Maryland, last night.

The Tome school occupies a unique place among educational institutions in this country. It is the most heavily-endowed private school in the United States, and is considered one of the best equipped. The house system associated with the great English schools is followed at Tome, the dormitories being named after the presidents of the United States. Each house is under the charge of a master, who has supervision over the studies and sports of the boys.

Lame back comes on suddenly and is extremely painful. It is caused by rheumatism of the muscles. Quick relief is afforded by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. Sold by all dealers.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR

M. Ers of United Brethren Church to Meet the Rev. and Mrs. H. I. Kohler Tonight.

The members of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, 417 South Cascade avenue, will give an informal reception to their new pastor, the Rev. Henry Irving Kohler and Mrs. Kohler, tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Kohler comes to this city from Arkansas City, Kan., and brings to Colorado Springs a record of eminent success in his past pastorates.

The Rev. J. N. Hayes of Longmont, Colo., conference superintendent, will take part in the program. All members of the church and Sunday school are cordially invited as are also those who prefer this church and have no church home.

THOMAS A. MAY DIES

Former City Ticket Agent of Colorado & Southern a Victim of Asthma. Funeral Today.

Thomas A. May, 50 years of age, formerly local city ticket agent for the Colorado & Southern railroad, and an active member of a number of secret organizations, died Thursday morning at his home, 15 St. Elmo street, Ivywild. Death was caused by asthma. He is survived by a wife and family.

Mr. May was a member of the Masons, Knights of Pythias, Woodmen of the World, and Ancient Order of United Workmen.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made at Evergreen.

"BIG BILL" CARTER DEAD

Well-Known Colored Man Who Lived Here Many Years, Dies at Alamosa.

"Big Bill" Carter, football fan and former trainer at the School of Mines and Colorado College, who for years was porter at the El Paso National bank, and one of the most trusted colored men in Colorado Springs, died yesterday at Alamosa. Carter was often trusted with thousands of dollars, to be carried from one bank to another, or to the clearing house. He was probably the best-known colored man in the city.

Carter was football trainer at the School of Mines for several years and after leaving that institution he trained the Colorado College Tigers several seasons.

Carter's body will be brought to this city for interment.

HEAVY FINE IMPOSED

Resisting an Officer and Carrying a Concealed Weapon Costs Charles Poe $71.30.

Throwing a rock at a policeman, when the latter tried to arrest him, cost Charles Poe, proprietor of the Kennebec rooming house, $71.30. He pleaded guilty in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday morning to the charge of resisting an officer, and to carrying a concealed weapon. He was fined $20 on each count. The fines and costs, amounting to $71.30, were paid at once.

Patrolman Locke arrested Poe for carrying a revolver, and started to a patrol box with his prisoner. On Pikes Peak, in front of The Gazette building, Poe struck the officer with a rock and knocked him down. Bystanders prevented Poe from escaping. He had been drinking and was carrying the revolver, it is said, to get even with Locke, who had ordered him away from the Denver & Rio Grande depot.

LARGE WATER SUPPLY

Superintendent McReynolds Makes Monthly Report on Springs System to City Council.

At the meeting of the City Council yesterday morning Water Superintendent B. B. McReynolds made his monthly report, showing that 262,573,000 gallons of water were used in October by Colorado Springs and Colorado City. During the month, 30,000,000 gallons of water were added to Prospect lake, making the contents at the end of the month 315,00,000 gallons. This amount of water, with 72,000,000 gallons in the Pike View reservoirs, makes the amount on hand for irrigation purposes 384,000,000 gallons.

Lake Moraine	238,000,000
Reservoir No. 2	80,000,000
Reservoir No. 4	631,000,000
Reservoir No. 5	541,000,000
Reservoir No. 7	27,000,000
Reservoir No. 8	174,000,000
Total	1,901,000,000
Gallons in storage, Sept. 30	1,836,000,000
Gallons in storage Oct. 31	1,801,000,000
Decrease during month	31,000,000

YEAKLE DIES OF INJURIES

Former Colorado Springs Man Passes Away as Result of Tramway Accident in Denver.

Wilson G. Yeakle, 33 years old, brother-in-law of Dr. H. L. Richardson, former county physician of El Paso county, died in Denver at St. Joseph's hospital yesterday morning from blood poison, which was the result of injuries sustained from falling under a street car in Denver last Saturday. Mr. Yeakle slipped while trying to board a car, and one of his feet was cut off. Blood poisoning set in and the leg was amputated twice in an effort to save the man's life.

The body will be brought to this city this morning, and taken from here by Dr. Richardson to Hamilton, O. The Hamilton lodge of Elks, of which Mr. Yeakle was a member, will probably have charge of the funeral.

UNKNOWN CROOK TRIES TO WORK GROCERY STORES

Ordering two bills of groceries amounting to $12.50, paying for them with a $17 check, which soon afterward was returned by the bank as worthless, and sending the groceries to 805 Jefferson avenue and 806 Lincoln avenue, where they were found untouched a few hours afterward, an unknown young man, whose identity has not been discovered, succeeded in badly frightening several merchants of the city yesterday, and in getting away with $4.50 in cash. The check was cashed at Ambersham's grocery store, a few groceries being bought there. Bills of goods were purchased at both West's and the Southern grocery stores, and were sent to the above-mentioned addresses. As soon as it was found that the check was worthless, these residences were looked up, but it was found that no one ordered the goods from either place. The police have a good description of the man and are working hard on the case.

OLD WATER MAIN MAY SAVE THE CITY LARGE SUM

The discovery of a four-inch water main running down Manitou boulevard in Arensdale, amounting to about 8,000 feet, has caused a reconsideration by the council of the proposition to extend the mains through Arensdale and Grand View, and it is likely that the main will be thus extended within the next few weeks. Although it was known that there was a small main, thought to be a two-inch affair, it is necessary to have a four-inch pipe to carry the water for that distance, and such a pipe would cost the city $2,000, which was thought too great an expense for the present time. To extend the mains to Grand View will cost but $1,000, and it is the opinion of the council that they will be able to extend the main to provide this district with water, within a short time. A special meeting is to be called for Monday night.

The regular monthly meeting of the teachers of the city schools was held yesterday afternoon in the High School building. Superintendent Dietrich of the Colorado Springs schools addressed the meeting.

A reception was held Thursday night for the Rev. and Mrs. N. R. Curtis of the Congregational church, at their home, 905 Lincoln avenue. There were many members and friends of the church present.

Miss Bee Johnston, who has been visiting for the last three months with her brother, Ed. Johnston, left last night for Parsons, Kan., where she will visit for several days before returning to her home in Joplin, Mo.

No word has been received by Postmaster Morgan in regard to the capture of the two men in Chicago suspected of the postoffice robbery. Clearance papers have been received from the office at Washington, giving credit for the stolen stamps.

The residence of H. B. Quinby of 520 Lincoln avenue, was broken into Thursday night, in the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Quinby from the city. Evidences were left of someone having slept in the place, but nothing was disturbed. Admittance was gained through the back door.

Dr. Johnston, dentist, has removed to Colorado Springs office, in the new Exchange National Bank building, room 616.

LOOKING FOR SPRINGS BOY

Melvin F. Bailey Said to Be Missing. Brother Goes to Spokane to Look for Him.

According to a special dispatch to The Gazette from Spokane, Wash., Allen W. Bailey, a Colorado Springs butcher, living at 352 East Las Vegas street, is in the city looking for his 18-year-old brother Melvin F. Bailey, who has been missing for the last three months. The last heard of young Bailey was when he left Walla Walla, saying he was going to Spokane. The Spokane police have been asked to aid in the search.

Many school children suffer from constipation, which is often the cause of seeming stupidity at lessons. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are an ideal medicine to give a child, for they are mild and gentle in their effect, and will cure even chronic constipation. Sold by all dealers.

GILES ISSUES SUPPLEMENT.

The Giles Mercantile agency has just issued the November supplement to their Annual Reference Book. The supplement contains 3,400 ratings. This, with the book, gives ratings on 14,000 credit buyers in Colorado Springs and vicinity. This is indeed a timely month in which to issue a publication of this kind, as it gives the merchants a chance to check up their ledgers before the holiday business commences.

News of Local Courts

SALVATION ARMY CAPTAIN TO APPEAR IN COURT

Alice Marshall and Mrs. R. D. Irvin, both colored, engaged in an altercation with Captain O. P. Jackson of the Salvation Army yesterday at the Salvation Army rummage sale on East Huerfano street, and as a result the trio will appear in police court this morning to answer to a charge of disturbance. The women claim that they were roughly handled by Jackson and say that he threw them out of the store. All gave bond for their appearance in court.

In the county court yesterday, Clara E. Johnson was granted a divorce from Adolph Johnson, grounds for the decree being cruelty. The Johnsons were married in Colorado City, September 18, 1907. Mrs. Johnson was given the custody of her two small children.

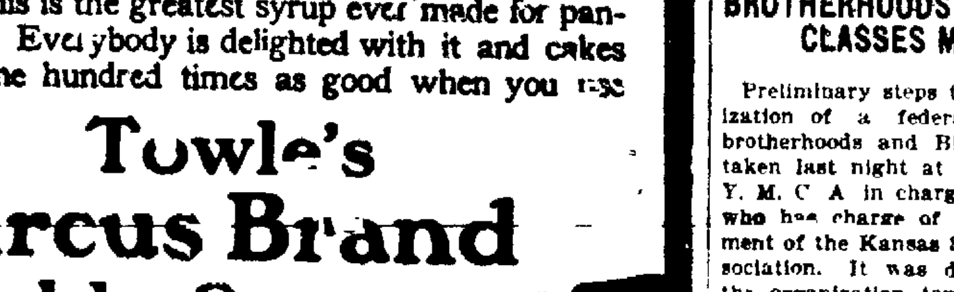

BROTHERHOODS AND BIBLE CLASSES MAY FEDERATE

Preliminary steps toward the organization of a federation of church brotherhoods and Bible classes, were taken last night at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. in charge of W. D. Stem, who has charge of the adult department of the Kansas Sunday School association. It was decided to perfect the organization tomorrow afternoon, at a meeting which is to be held in the First Presbyterian church. Mr. Stem will address the meeting. All members of brotherhoods and Bible classes in the city are requested to be present.

SAYS THIEF TOOK GOLD WATCH FROM HER HOME

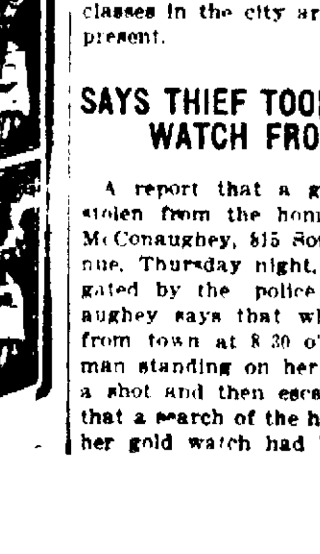

A report that a gold watch was stolen from the home of Mrs. D. P. McConaughey, 615 South Cascade avenue, Thursday night, is being investigated by the police. Mrs. McConaughey says that when she returned from town at 8:30 o'clock she saw a man standing on her porch. He fired a shot and then escaped. She claims that a search of the house showed that her gold watch had been stolen.

What the Press Agents Say

THE CAT AND THE FIDDLE

The attraction at the Opera House Monday evening will be "The Cat and the Fiddle." It is termed a musical extravaganza," and the term justifies, for it is musical every minute for two hours and a half, and with many scenic effects and illusions occurring it is certainly extravagant; and it is well worth while as good amusement.

"The Cat and the Fiddle" claims a good plot. There are "Immortals" who want to rule the mythical Isle of Eye, and "mortals" who refuse to be ruled, and after a struggle between magic and wit, with fortune favoring the mortals," the spirits of darkness are overcome and the earth beings wish for their airship and their safe return to happiness. The story ends happily and all is well. During the action of the play many musical numbers are interpreted.

Heading the list of funmakers, is Charles A. Sellon, and a recent exchange states "He is one of the sort to whom being funny is second nature." The Elmore sisters ably assist, and their travesty of "Nearly Grand Opera" is considered one of the bright satires.

An original number for the chorus is promised in "Under the Sea" with scenic effects and a catchy air that is very whistleable. There are 19 gorgeous scenes, all very elaborate and the boast is made that the production is one of the largest in the musical comedy line on tour this season

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT IN "RAGGED ROBIN"

Chauncey Olcott in Augustus Pitou's superb production of "Ragged Robin," is announced as one of the important dramatic attractions coming to the Opera House next Thursday. The production is one of the finest in the way of an Irish play that has ever been given in this country, and as for the star, well, there's no gainsaying the fact that Olcott is today the cleverest man in his line of work. There is a good deal of the fairy element introduced in the piece and Manager Pitou has taken advantage of the opportunity thus afforded him to give the play a magnificent production. The scenery will almost border on the spectacular and there is a wealth of beautiful costumes. The songs composed by Mr. Olcott for "Ragged Robin" are said to rank with his best, and that is saying a great deal. There is also a fine supporting company of players.

The role of the careless happy minstrel is peculiarly well adapted to Mr. Olcott's personality and the songs introduced by him in the piece are melodic and catching. "Ragged Robin" is founded upon a pretty love story, interwoven with which are many bits of Irish fairy lore, giving the piece an atmosphere of romance that is delightfully fascinating.

A GENTLEMAN FROM MISSISSIPPI

"A Gentleman From Mississippi," which is now in its second year in New York city, and six months in Chicago, will be seen here for the first time in Colorado Springs at the Opera House next Wednesday. The play is a comedy of Washington official life and is the work of Harrison Rhodes and Thomas A. Wise. It is put forward by William A. Brady and Joseph R. Grismer. "A Gentleman From Mississippi" tells of the speedy education in the devious ways of Washington's official and social diplomacy of Senator "Bill" Langdon, an easy-going, guileless and honest chap from Mississippi, sent to the Senate by "the interests" in the belief that he will prove pliable through his ignorance of procedure. The role of the senator will be played by James Lackaye. A quintet of pretty women will be seen in the feminine roles and the play will be presented with complete scenic equipments.

CLOSING DAY OF A CORKING GOOD SHOW

Today brings to a close what everybody pronounces a corking good show at the Majestic, and, although another equally high class is booked for next week, those who miss a visit to the Majestic either this afternoon or evening will miss something good. The advance sale indicates packed houses at every house today.

The program this week has two features essential to a successful vaudeville entertainment. It abounds in laughs and it is well balanced and varied. There is something of everything in it. A clever sketch of rural life in which there is an element of the tragic, but only just enough of it to win full appreciation for its homely comedy, a musical treat in the whistling and yodling of Jere Sanford, and the singing of Burton and Stacey, an acrobatic number by Les Ploetz Larellas, three French girls of remarkable skill, a few minutes of real thrills furnished by the Majestiscope pictures, an unusual barefoot dance by Miss Stacey, a clever monologue by Mr. Sanford, and finally 15 minutes of uproarious fun mixed up with fine singing by Mitchell and Cain in "That Frenchman and the Other Fellow."

No one who enjoys anything at all can fail to find something enjoyable in this program. But, better still, the tout ensemble is of such high standard that the spectator leaves with the feeling that he never saw a more enjoyable performance in his life. That's the general verdict and for that reason Manager Tammen anticipates great patronage at today's three shows. Satisfied patrons are the best advertisement a vaudeville house can have.

AT FAIRYLAND MATINEE AND NIGHT

Although "Tom Thumb" is a very frequently used expression, how many of us really know the story of Tom Thumb? This fairy tale is being presented this week in the gorgeous settings that delight the childish fancy. A hand-tinted film, showing a host of juvenile actors—this picture has proved a delight to the grownups as well as the children.

The Spanish dance of Diaz and Rodreque has proved to be all that the glowing advance notices of this talented team led us to believe. Rich in the grace and rhythm of the southern peoples, this dance has added much to the popularity of this cozy family theater. Don't fail to attend one of the two performances that remain.

"The Burglar in the Trunk" gets a few bumps every minute for what must seem to him an interminable length of time and he finally gets socked. You'll enjoy this—if the burglar didn't. Another pleasing film is "The Mountebank's Watch Case."

With a merry monologue, and the popular Fairyland orchestra, this week's program is proving a big winner.

"A STUBBORN CINDERELLA"

Mr. Mort H. Singer's Princess theater (Chicago) company supporting Mr. Harry Stone in the Hough, Adams and Howard musical comedy, "A Stubborn Cinderella," will be seen at the Opera House on next Friday evening.

Although it is by the authors of "The Goddess of Liberty," "The Time, the Place and the Girl" and "The Girl Question," it is an entirely different class of entertainment from its predecessors. The characters are drawn from much more pretentious walks of life. Its scenes are laid in a different class of society, and even its musical numbers are more ambitious than in any of the former plays by these popular authors.

The fact that the Chicago production ran for over 400 performances at the Princess theater in that city, and during all that time never played to a vacant seat at a single performance, demonstrates the appeal which this charming musical play makes, not only to the orchestra patrons of the theater but to those who sit in the balcony and gallery as well.

Plans are being made for the electrification of the more important state railways in Sweden.

Y. M. C. A. STAR COURSE

Second number Tuesday, November 9, Whitney Bros. male quartet. Seat sale at Opera House box office.

Compulsory study of the ancient Irish language in the new national university at Dublin is expected to meet some opposition.

MODISH CHAPEAU FOR MADEMOISELLE.

Here is a smart hat of mauve velvet on top, while the underneath portion is of black velvet. Strings sweep from one side to the other, and are placed coquettishly under the chin, "and this is how mademoiselle ties some man's heart within." The trimming consists of a black velvet band run around the medium-sized crown, adjusted by a handsome buckle of cut steel. The profuse use of ostrich feathers is seen, and the trimming runs from the back toward the front and top of the crown and the sides of the brim.

People will stick to their old belief in metallic poisoning of food in cooking, but poison from tin, verdigris, copper and lead is rare.

Every public school in Germany has a gymnasium, and there are certain hours on certain days when physical culture of boys and girls of all classes and ages is gone through

The tie-treating plant of the Mexican Central railroad has reached an output of 3,500 ties a day, making it one of the largest concerns of its kind in the world.

Poison from potatoes or potato salads sometimes catches German soldiers. It is caused by Proteus bacillus. Potatoes should be eaten as soon as cooked.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Health Talks

No man is stronger than his stomach. Make your stomach strong and you thereby fortify your system against the attacks of a long list of diseases which originate in the stomach and must be reached, if at all through the stomach. Thus torpid, or lazy liver, biliousness, dyspepsia, impure blood and various skin affections originate in weak stomach and consequent poor nutrition. The same is true of certain bronchial, throat and lung affections.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

Strengthens the stomach, invigorates the liver, purifies the blood making it rich, red and vitalizing and thereby curing the above and kindred affections.

It's foolish and often dangerous to experiment with new or but slightly tested medicines—sometimes urged upon the afflicted as "just as good" or better than "Golden Medical Discovery." The dishonest dealer sometimes insist that he knows what the proffered substitute is made of, but you don't and it is decidedly for your interest that you should know what you are taking into your stomach and system expecting it to act as a curative. PRESIDENT TAFT ON "PORK BARRELS."

PRESIDENT TAFT'S recent observations concerning the tendency of Congress to convert river improvement bills into "pork barrels" calls attention to one of the perennial abuses of national legislation. Pork barrels are of two kinds; those which pertain to river and harbor improvement, and those which provide for public buildings, and in each there is fat political picking.

Since 1875 Congress has appropriated a total of nearly a half-billion dollars for inland waterways. Of course much of this was necessary, and much more of it was wise and desirable, but there is no doubt that a great deal of it was merely a pork-barrel proposition. Every Congressman whose district includes a stream too wide to jump across feels that his constituents will regard him as oblivious to their needs if he fails to get an appropriation for river "improvement." Thus it happens that every river and harbor bill carries sums aggregating millions for deepening the channels of Scroggins Run and Salt Creek and various other unheard-of streams all of which is utterly wasted.

The public buildings pork barrel has not provided for as heavy disbursements as the river and harbor bills, but nevertheless it is responsible for putting more than $121,000,000 of public money into circulation in the last fourteen years. Nobody disputes the necessity of the Government building and owning postoffices, court houses and other Federal buildings in the cities and larger towns, but the practice of voting money for this purpose is sadly abused. When a Congressman sees his colleague from the next district get a fine postoffice building for one of its towns he does not rest content until he himself has done as much for his own town. The result is that nowadays any little burg of 2,000 or 3,000 people can have a fine postoffice for the asking.

COSTLY LUXURY FOR UNCLE SAM.

According to a statement published a few days ago, the experience of the Postoffice Department is that in such towns adequate quarters for the postoffice can be rented for about $300 a year, including light and heat. But a building costing $50,000 or $75,000—which is the lowest figure any of them ask for—requires at least $1,000 a year for maintenance. Thus the Government is saddled with a maintenance cost two or three times larger than is necessary and when this is figured for several hundred postoffices it runs into big money.

The construction of a deep channel in the Mississippi and its larger tributaries now seems assured for it has the backing of the united business interests of the entire West, of a considerable proportion of Congressmen, and of the President. Mr. Taft has declared himself in favor of a bond issue to carry on the work, and while this proposal is certain to be strongly opposed, especially by Eastern Congressmen, it is likely to win out simply because the enterprise is too vast to be financed in any other way.

THE REVOLUTION IN NICARAGUA.

AFTER having been taken by surprise, outwitted and outgeneraled in the early stages of the revolution President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, seems to have regained the upper hand. The latest reports tell of a fight in which the government troops captured a revolutionary stronghold. In the beginning of the contest the insurgents got control of the entire Atlantic Coast region of the country and a part of the interior and as this much progress usually means success in a Central American revolution indications were that the rule of Zelaya was nearing an end.

All this is of grave interest to people in this country, but only because they are too indifferent to affairs in the Latin-American nations to realize their importance. Nature made Central America one of the garden spots of the earth, but the tyrants that have governed it since its first settlement by the Spanish have done their best to convert it into a desert—and they have almost succeeded so far as misrule can ruin a land. Since the Central Americans threw off the Spanish yoke three quarters of a century ago, and started in business as five independent republics their history has been an almost uninterrupted story of plunder and oppression at the hands of the tyrants dignified by the title of president.

A LONG ERA OF MISRULE.

The situation just now is typical of the entire era. Guatemala and Nicaragua the two strongest nations, are probably the most wretchedly misgoverned. Each is entirely in the grip of a bloodthirsty autocrat who attained power by means of a successful revolution against his predecessor.

It would be hard to say which of the two is the worse, Cabrera of Guatemala or Zelaya of Nicaragua. Each cordially hates the other because each wants to be the real leader throughout Central America and Honduras and Salvador which lie between the possessions of the rivals are plundered by each one in turn in the fashion that usually prevails in a buffer state. A few days ago the press dispatches announced that Honduras had taken the side of President Zelaya in the present revolution which indicates that just now Nicaragua, rather than Guatemala holds the whip hand in Honduras.

The five Central American republics have a total area of 170,000 square miles, or a little more than that of California. Their combined population is slightly in excess of 4,000,000, or about the same as that of Ohio. That a country so enormously fertile and so easily capable of being made rich and prosperous should be kept in a state of barbarism by the misrule of self-appointed dictators is a reproach to civilization. Central America lies at our southern door, and our commercial interests there, by no means inconsiderable, could be multiplied many fold by the establishment of a stable government.

The reasons which caused the United States to intervene in Cuba apply with almost equal force to this region and though the subject has never received the attention it deserves, there is hardly a doubt that the time is not far distant when the American government will be compelled to intervene, and establish a provisional government with perhaps annexation as the ultimate settlement.

THE WHITE PLAGUE IN NEW YORK.

From the New York American.

It is the bitter irony of our profligate city government that, with millions to waste on prodigals and plunderers, the dollars are doled out with niggardly parsimony in matters of life and death.

The city's reluctance to take up the battle against the great white plague that decimates us more than once in every generation is one of the most striking exhibits of our mental inversion and moral stupor.

High-spirited private philanthropy, acting through a score of well-organized undertakings, has spent its time and money without stint in efforts to rouse the city to an understanding of the fact that tuberculosis is a preventable disease, and that it can be routed or driven back by energetic civic action.

Public-spirited citizens have done all that individuals can do to save the city from this scourge. The city of New York must do the rest.

PROGRESS OF DIVORCE.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

Whether one is or is not proud of our divorce record depends chiefly upon his point of view. If he believes that no couple should live together after the first petty quarrel of married life and should have an easy chance to make another experiment, he will be gratified to know that we are progressing rapidly toward that end; that now there is a divorce to about every ten marriages and that, in the courts of the lives of living men, if the ratio is kept up the man who has never had but one wife will be looked upon as a phenomenon and a social pariah. On the contrary, if he still believes that there is some sanctity in the home and that the future of the country depends upon the maintenance of the family as the unit of society, he will be much perturbed by the statistics which show that the divorce evil is growing rapidly. In the last 20 years there have been almost 18,000,000 marriages reported in this country and almost 1,000,000 divorces. But the discouraging feature is that the ratio of divorces to marriages increases every year. The situation is best in the south, where divorce is very uncommon, is impossible in the state of South Carolina and is frowned upon socially elsewhere below Mason's and Dixon's line; it is at its worst in the west, where it seems as if marriage were almost a mockery and where in fact it has come near to being nothing more than licensed polygamy.

MRS. PANKHURST'S PLEA.

From the Boston Transcript.

The "screaming sisterhood" addressed Boston last evening by the mouth of its brilliant leader. If it "screams" in that fashion at home, the British government may well be uneasy. Without rant or sentimentalism or more extravagance than is permitted to agitators, Mrs. Pankhurst made out an exceedingly interesting and in most respects a very convincing case for her "militancy." She reviewed the quiet (and entirely futile) effort that the suffragists exerted for 50 years. She told how Englishmen had dragged women into politics by starting the Primrose league and its rival organization, how, once in politics, they became anxious to secure the reform of legal abuses that oppress women, how they saw that the only way to secure that reform was first to secure the ballot. She showed how they attempted peaceful overtures in that direction, only to be snubbed, and how Mr. Balfour advised them four years ago to bring their cause into the field of practical politics by "kicking up a fuss." After her violent measures, she defended them vigorously. If men could interrupt political meetings with questions, why not women? If the right of petition was a lawful prerogative, why should not women come to "the people's house" with appeals for legislation? And if nothing short of "kicking up a fuss" would make the press report suffragist demonstrations, why not take that means of gaining notice? Peaceful methods had yielded absolutely nothing in half a century. "Militancy" has made woman's suffrage a burning issue. The "fuss" has been "kicked up." Suffragettism is a highly active ingredient in practical politics. Such, in brief, were Mrs. Pankhurst's contentions, she backed them up with a pitiless arraignment of the absurdities and injustices of the law in England in its treatment of women. With equal vigor, she urged that nothing short of tormenting cabinet ministers and making them ridiculous could combat the obstinacy of the government. Whereas, our lawmakers give suffragists a hearing, British lawmakers refuse to, and are taking the consequence.

MR. FAIRBANKS.

From the Shanghai Times.

The presence in Shanghai of Mr. C. W. Fairbanks, ex-vice president of the United States, serves as a reminder of the increasing interest being taken in the affairs of China by America. The distinguished career of Mr. Fairbanks in the Senate, and his later election to the high office of vice president, furnish the best possible guarantee of his being able to properly represent the opinions and aims of his countrymen. While his visit is in no way official he himself not being an officer at the present time of his government, yet he has been accorded by Japan and China the highest honors. In Pekin he was received by the prince regent and all the leading ministers of state called to present their respects to him. The time of his visit to the capital had been planned long before the arrangements for the American participation in the railway loans had been mooted, but coming as it did immediately after the final negotiations it did much to emphasize the fact that America's action in this matter had only been taken in a most friendly spirit. The influence exerted has been indirect but none the less beneficial as evidencing in an unofficial way the real bond of sympathy between the two nations. The large body of Chinese students studying in America has for more than a quarter of a century turned the attention of the American people toward China, and that interest was greatly deepened by the visit of His Highness Prince Pu Lun to the St. Louis exposition, and the later visit of the traveling commission of which H. E. Admiral Tuan Fang was a member. The visit of Mr. Fairbanks to China at the present time has excited more interest in Chinese official circles than that of any other American save the visit of the Chinese mission of ex President Grant to Canton. Mr. Fairbanks in leaving China will carry with him the regard and appreciation of Americans in China for his dignified and appropriate representation of their country.

You may hear Jemima crying, she is sobbing, she is sighing, for her life seems flat and empty, and she yearns for Higher Things, she would win a reputation that would cover all creation, and her mother from the woodshed all the coal and kindling brings. Little Willie is disgusted, for his golden dreams are busted and he finds the world he lives in is the weariest of bores he is gazing from the casement in a sort of self-abasement, while his daddy spades the garden and is doing other chores. This old world is gay and festive and the dreamers who grow restive, saying it's a cheap elusion, built to bother and to irk might forget their woe and wailing, and reproaches unavailing, if they'd shed their outer garments and get down to earnest work. Dreams are idle, dreams are hazy and the girl is simply lazy who goes round the house a-yearning when she ought to sweep the floor, and the lily-fingered Willie seems too blamed absurd and silly, when, because he missed connections, he is sure the world's a bore!

THE OLD HOMESTEAD.

The Daily Chit-Chat

A great many women whom I know, who are extremely economical in most respects, have a peculiar habit of throwing away two-dollar and even larger bills on certain occasions.

"Yes, he told me not to eat any potatoes or starchy things, but that's nonsense. Why, I've always heard that potatoes were the most nourishing thing you could possibly eat. Of course, I shan't give them up."

That's what I overheard in the car yesterday.

If a woman paid two or three dollars for a waist or a piece of cloth or any material thing she wouldn't be very apt to go out and throw it in the dump the next day, would she?

And yet again and again I've seen women who paid two or three dollars for a doctor's advice treat it in a way that was equivalent to throwing it in the dump.

The above quotation is one small example.

I've heard and seen some thousands of variations of that at different times among my feminine acquaintances.

They seem to take a peculiar pride and delight in these announcements; to regard them, for some strange reason, as declarations of independence a Polish independence, since it is from an authority they themselves have sought.

"My doctor tells me to be out doors at least two or three hours every day," says one woman, "but that shows just how much he knows about what there is to do in a house. I guess he'd have taken two or three hours to be outdoors yesterday if he had six white skirts to iron for Elsie and a waist to be finished for the whist party, besides all the regular wash."

And her confidante promptly smympathises with her in her rebellion against that arbitrary doctor, instead of pointing out that the doctor did not give the prescription to amuse himself, but because he knew those two or three hours might stand between his patient and breakdown or death.

"Oh, I always take what my doctor says with a large grain of salt," is a favorite expression of another neighbor of mine.

"The large grain of salt" means of course, that she employs her own superior wisdom in selecting what parts of his advice she thinks best to follow.

The funny part of it all is the absurd way these women ignore the fact that while they are biting off the doctor's nose they are spiting their own faces.

And the sad part of it is that they do spite their faces in other words, don't get well.

Just by way of contrast I'm going to tell you a little story of a woman who, under the most trying circumstances, had the courage to follow the doctor's advice absolutely.

She was telling me about it the other day.

"When my baby was 11 months old," she said, "she had pneumonia. The fever kept getting worse and worse, and we tried all the ordinary means and failed.

"One day when the doctor came her temperature was between 104 and 105, and she hadn't slept any for two or three days.

"He looked at her and said, 'Now, I am going to tell you a way to save that baby's life. If you do just what I say I think you can save her. If you don't, she'll probably be dead by tomorrow.'

"And then he told me to put the baby in a tub of very cold water up to her neck and let her stay there for five minutes and then put her in a dry blanket, not rub her at all, but simply lay her on it. He said that that would take the fever down and if it came up to do it again.

"'Now, if any old women come in here they'll tell you not to do it,' he said, 'but if you care anything about saving your baby you won't mind what they say.

"It was before the days of the cold treatment for pneumonia, and no one had ever heard of such a thing, and everyone said it would kill the child. But I did it.

"And the minute I got her dry she fell into a perfectly natural sleep and slept all night. In a few days she was out of danger."

If you were in a ship on a very stormy sea you wouldn't try to take the wheel away from the pilot, who had been trained to navigate that sea, would you?

Then don't.

Egg Sauce.—This is a very simple preparation which goes well with salt cod or any similar salted fish. A cupful of milk is heated and thickened with a tablespoonful of cornstarch (previously mixed smoothly in a little cold milk) stirred into it until it thickens. Now stir in two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of finely chopped parsley and lastly two hard boiled eggs chopped fine. Another mode is to add the eggs, chopped fine in the same way to some melted butter, omitting the parsley. A third and perhaps the most novel is to put into a saucepan the beaten yolks of two eggs, two slices of lemon a tablespoonful of butter, a dessertspoonful of vinegar and a grate of nutmeg. Stir over a gentle heat till very hot, but not boiling, then remove the lemon and serve. The piquant flavor of this last sauce much improves fresh water fish which are sometimes rather insipid.

Snowball Pudding.—Beat the yolks of three eggs light, then add gradually one cupful of granulated sugar, beating all the while. When very light add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one cupful of flour and beat again. Beat the whites of three eggs to a stiff, dry froth, add quickly to the other mixture, one rounded teaspoonful of baking powder. Fill well-buttered cups two-thirds full and steam for twenty minutes. Roll in powdered sugar and serve with sauce.

AND JUST THEN

Don't you remember when the ship the pirate ship that flew
The black flag with the gleaming skull, in the fierce gales that blew,
Went on the rocks? I think it was upon the Spanish Main.
The sails were torn to tatters and there fell a driving rain.
The air was filled with cries of fear, shocks followed upon shocks.
"Come, man, the life boats," called the mate; "the ship is on the rocks!"
And just when lightnings rent the air and all the sky was red,
Your mother said, "You've read enough, my boy! It's time for bed!"

Don't you remember when the score stood six to six until
The very ending of the game and every heart stood still?
The Red Sox pitcher took his place, while not a watcher stirred,
A hit, a pass, an error and a runner got to third.
Don't you remember, as you read, you almost heard the crack
As bat met ball and you could feel cold chills go down your back?
And just as you had but a page to find which players led
Your mother said, "You've read enough, my boy! It's time for bed!"

Don't you remember when Wild Bill and Deadshot Dick, the scout,
Were prisoned in the rocky cave with redskins all about,
With all their ammunition gone, nor food to eat, as they
Had been a thousand times before, but always got away?
The warwhoops rang out fierce and shrill. Said Dick, "I have a plan.
We will escape or sell our lives as dearly as we can."
And just as you turned o'er the page to see what plans they'd lay,
The clock struck nine—your mother came and took the book away.

Oh, Captain Kidd, it seemed to me when you went on the rock
You always timed the hour of it to be at nine o'clock!
And Dick, the scout, the redskins came and fell on you with rage
Just when my boyhood bedtime came and I turned down the page!
And Spike, the wizard of the slab, who mowed the batsmen down
Like blades of grass, the hero of the little country town,
You turned to thine the crisis of your fiercest game, someway,
At nine o'clock, when mother came and took the book away!

SOME OLD FACTS IN NEW CLOTHES

Our Atmosphere an Aerial Sea, at the Bottom of which We Live.

Tom W. Winder in the Chicago Tribune.

The atmosphere, like an ocean, overlies the whole surface of the earth; in fact, it is an ocean, and it is literally true, that, like crabs and lobsters, we live and move and spend our days at the bottom of a sea—an aerial sea. This atmospheric ocean rises far above us, and, like that of waters, has its waves, its currents, and its ties. It is found to grow more rarefied, as well as colder, as we ascend towards its upper limits, which is supposed to be about 45 miles above the level of the sea. This ocean of air, like that of water, has its weights and pressure.

People in general are not aware because they are not conscious, of any weight resting upon them from the atmosphere; yet reliable measurements prove that at the sea level it presses with a force equal to 14 3-5 pounds on every square inch, or 2,100 pounds on every square foot, or 58,651,200 pounds on every square mile; or on the whole surface of the earth with a weight equal to that of a solid globe of lead 60 miles in diameter!

How few reflect that they live under an ocean of such stupendous weight. But to bring this fact sensibly before the mind it may be stated that the atmospheric pressure on the whole surface of a medium-sized man is no less than 14 tons a weight that would instantly crush him, as hollow vessels collapse when sunk deep in the ocean, but for the elasticity and equal pressure of the air on every part without, and the counter balancing pressure of the air within.

Sound Depends on Atmosphere.

Atmosphere is the medium of sound. In its absence eternal silence must have reigned. The vibrations of the air, like speedy messengers, are what convey our thoughts to others and those of others to us. The air is the channel through which man holds communion with his fellows, and receives the indescribable pleasures that spring from the words of friendship, the voice of love, and all the soothing charms of melody.

The dew comes unsought, and it falls when men sleep. The wild bird welcomes the morning light with a song, because the dew has given freshness to all the air and "strewn the earth with orient pearl." Without the dew the fairest landscape would seem as if it had been all burned over with fire. The dew falls in gentleness and silence. No sight or sound indicates its coming.

We know of its presence only when we see it has fallen. It is ever near and abundant in the great storehouse of the atmosphere, but it falls only upon objects that are prepared to receive it. There may be as much moisture in the air when no dew appears as when it falls most abundantly. The source and conditions of supply are the same to all, but there is a difference in the objects themselves. Every green leaf, every blade of grass, whether skirting the roadside, carpeting the fields or clothing the forest, receives the refreshing dew upon its surface and sparkles with rainbow tints in the morning light.

But the hard beaten and artificial road, the dead cold stone, the leafless and barkless trunk of the blasted tree, receives no dew. It does not fall from above like the rain, and yet it appears only on objects that are exposed to the open sky.

Fruit's Whole Surface Covered.

The down upon the peach or plum is so delicate and so thickly set that one cannot touch the fruit with a needle's point without breaking the tender stalks, and yet the dew of the night covers the whole surface of the fruit and disappears in the morning, leaving the gossamer growth more orderly and beautiful than before.

The dew covers every leaf of the giant oak and the mighty tree drinks in the refreshing moisture to its thirsty heart through millions of pores and the iron trunk that has withstood a thousand storms is made stronger by the gentle strength of the dew.

The silent fall of the dew is caused and controlled by agencies of the most tremendous and resistless power—the power which shakes a whole continent with its subterranean thunder is the same as that which encircles the finest filament of thistledown with a coronet of dewy gems so small that they do not bend the delicate stalks with their weight.

PRETTY GIRL HAS NOT HANDS.

Indolent Masculinity Is Put to Shame by Sturdy Nebraska Damsels.

From the St. Paul Dispatch.

OMAHA, Neb.—The small grain harvest that is now being finished throughout southern and central Nebraska supplies convincing proof that the women of the west are rapidly crowding the men out of the fields of labor and are candidates for positions in all of the respectable professions.

When the Nebraska small grain harvest opened, there was a great shortage of male help. Even $3 a day, with board, lodging and washing, did not attract the city man. A large number of college students went to the rescue of the ripening grain, but the supply was far less than the demand.

Farmers became desperate. The price of wheat kept on soaring, and they could not afford to let the grain go back into the ground.

Out in Beatrice one day, Henry Wilson, a farmer living nine miles south of town, needed four men for gathering and shocking wheat. He offered idle park loungers $3.25 a day, but they declined to go to work. Mr. Wilson told his troubles to Miss Jeanette Allison, a waitress.

"Why don't you hire girls?" she asked.

"They would not go into the harvest field, and they would not do the work if they could," responded the farmer.

Give the Girls a Chance.

"Try them," ventured the girl. "Give me the same wages as you would a man, and I will go. Besides, if I do not do the work of a man, I will not charge you a cent."

Not only did Miss Allison ride home with Farmer Wilson that night, but four of her girl friends went along. The next evening Farmer Wilson told his wife that he had never had harvest hands that did better work than the five girls. The second day farmers came from miles about, saw the girls at work, and that night many of them went to Beatrice and other neighboring towns, where they hired 15 young women to work in the grain fields.

Word was passed down to Omaha that young women could have employment in the harvest fields of Gage county. An employment agency published this ad:

"Wanted—One hundred young women to work in the harvest fields. Wages $3 per day. Board and washing."

The next day that employment agent did business. He was swamped with applicants, all young women—school teachers, stenographers, college girls and girls who had been working in factories at from $6 to $7 per week. All they wanted was to be given a trial. The farmers gave them the trial and they made good. They remained with the farmers until the harvest was finished and many of them will continue during the stacking and haying, receiving from $1.75 to $2 per day and board.

GHAT

In the African country of Ghat the women own all the real estate and tyrannize over the men.

Think how dreadful to live in Ghat
Where you can't indulge in a family spat
Lest your wife should turn you out of the flat,
In Ghat.

Where man is only a poor mean rat
And never dares to go out on a lat
And the women in politics all stand pat,
In Ghat.

If you were a man would you stand for that?
Or would you rather pick up your hat
And without any leave taking quickly scat
From Ghat?

What's Doing in the World of Sports

TRAVIS PICKED FOR WINNER OF GOLF TOURNEY

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 5.—Walter J. Travis, veteran of American golfing, is the selected champion for the fall tourney of the Atlantic City Country club, following his defeat today of Richard Mott of Riverton, N. J., and E Satterthwaite, another Riverton champion. Travis played his usual steady game, and easily defeated his opponents in the first and second rounds.

W. E. Shackleford, champion of the local club, picked as the most dangerous opponent of Travis, went down in the first round. His removal is expected to give Travis a clear field to the local championship. Travis plays A. S. Cameron tomorrow.

MINES TO CLASH WITH D. U. MINISTERS TODAY

Crack Football Elevens on Edge for This Afternoon's Big Contests.

DENVER, Nov. 5.—Tomorrow the School of Mines, former Rocky Mountain champions, and Denver university, present holder of title honors, will meet at University park.

The teams had their last hard work last night, and, except for Captain Archie Spring of the Miners, all candidates for both teams are reported to be in the best of condition. Spring will be replaced by Douglas at halfback. Indications are that the biggest crowd that ever attended a football game in Colorado will be on hand to witness the contest, which looms up as even more important than the Thanksgiving games. So far as coaching goes, it is a case of Chicago pitted against Michigan, with Koehler and Curtis in the role of generals.

From the spectator's viewpoint, the game should be one of the most interesting ever played in Colorado. It will abound in punting, forward passing, onside kicks and open playing in general, with the ball almost continually in the air.

MANAGER FRED CLARKE A PHENOMENAL BATTER

Leader of Pirates One of Few 400 Hitters in Modern Baseball.

While the baseball statisticians have made the fans conversant with the records of Hans Wagner, Nap Lajoie and Willie Keeler, who have been famed as batters for many years, they have overlooked Fred Clarke, the hustling and clever manager of the Pittsburg Pirates.

Clarke may not have the batting average for 10 or 12 years that Wagner, Lajoie and Keeler were able to pile up, but, just the same, he is one of the few who have been in the big leagues for 16 years, and been able to bat over .300 for that length of time.

Clarke is now finishing his sixteenth season as a big league player. In 10 of these 16 seasons he batted over .300, while in 1905 he missed by only one point. This year his figure is .320. He is also one of the few men who has been able to bat over .400 in the modern days of baseball. And he has also starred as a run getter and base runner.

In figuring Clarke's record it should also be borne in mind that for over 12 years he has been a club manager, and it is a conceded fact that players upon who managerial duties have been placed do not bat as well as they would if they had only their individual work to think about. Despite this handicap he has taken a mark of .301 for 16 years, having made 2,614 hits, scored 1,477 runs, or ¾ of a run to a game, and stolen 489 bases.

During the season of 1904 Clarke's days as a professional baseball player were nearly ended. He suffered a severe accident in stealing a base, and blood poisoning set in. He was laid up for several weeks, the surgeons having to remove one of the muscles from the upper part of his leg.

It was thought then that he never would be able to play again but he did manage to take part in the post season series that fall with the Naps and play each season since. But he really has not been the same batter that he was before his accident, passing the .300 mark but once.

In Tommy Leach Clarke has a most valuable copartner on the bases. The Cleveland boy joined Louisville in 1899 and did fairly well, but when the club was transferred to Pittsburg he was a bench warmer the larger portion of 1900. In fact, it was not until 1902 that Tommy began to shine, but ever since that time he has been one of the mainstays of the Pirate crew. Since he was transferred from third base to the outfield his base running has been improved. As a third sacker he was unfortunate enough to be often injured.

DALY WILL PROTEST VICTORY OF DE ORO

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Alfredo De Oro holder of the three cushion billiard championship, defeated John W. Daly of Chicago in the fifth and final game of their series tonight. Daly, saying that he had obtained information that De Oro used a ball unauthorized by the rules in the first game, has served notice of protest, which is to be decided later. De Oro's score was 500 to 311.

NEW MEN ON SYRACUSE TEAM

The pictures accompanying this article are of new men, Lee having played but one game. He played like a fiend against Niagara. Should Pinder recover from a bad knee, he will be put in the game.

Syracuse has won three of the six games played, its conqueror being Yale, 16 to 0, and Carlisle, 14 to 11, and Michigan. The Syracusans have defeated Hamilton, 20 to 0; Rochester, 17 to 0, and Niagara, 39 to 0.

FORT COLLINS FARMERS WILL JOUST WITH COLORADO COLLEGE TIGER TODAY

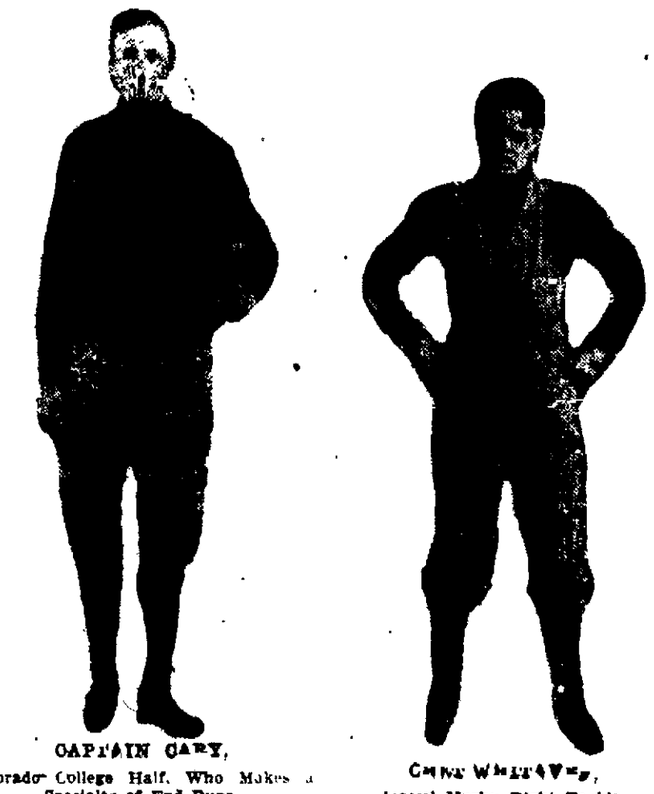

TIGERS VS. AGGIES AT WASHBURN FIELD AT 2:30 P. M.

The lineup:

TIGERS.		AGGIES
Thompson, Morrison	le	Proctor.
Morrison	lt	Morse.
Reichsmuth	lg	Johnson.
Hedblom	c	Wachter.
Roe	rg	Mann.
Cary	rt	Bohmeyer.
Sinton	re	Clegg.
Sherry, Putnam	qb	McCaddon.
Whitaker	lh	Bloomfield.
Heald	fb	Schaffer.
Vandemoer	rh	Cram.

The officials: Otto F. Dubach, referee; Van Stone, umpire; Reinfelt, head linesman.

The stage is all set for the first College football game of the season in Colorado Springs. The Farmer footballists from the State Agricultural college are snoozing at the Alamo hotel, dreaming of the gritty fight they are going to make against the Tiger this afternoon. Meanwhile the big kitten is licking his chops in anticipation of a nice, large, juicy steak, a la Farmer.

CAPTAIN CARY,
Colorado College Half, Who Makes a Specialty of End Runs.

CARL WHITAKER,
Tigers' Husky Right Tackle.

Despite the fact that the locals outweigh their opponents several pounds, this afternoon's session on the Washburn field gridiron is likely to be a snappy affair. Coach Rothgeb of the Aggies said last night that he had a pretty good team and that the Aggies would make the Tigers earn their victory. He has only two veterans on his eleven, but the men have received some excellent football training. The Aggies beat Wyoming 32 to 3 while the Tigers trimmed the Cowboys 44 to 5. According to this dope, the locals have the best of the figuring.

Coach Richards sent the Tigers through scrimmage with the scrubs last night and the regulars showed some improvement. Vandemoer will do the punting for the Colorado College men. As a boot artist, he has been improving daily and should do some good work today. The College line is heavy and should be able to do its share of holding the light players from Ft. Collins. End runs by both teams are likely to be a feature of the game.

The Colorado College management has arranged to handle a big crowd and everyone may be sure of a good seat. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock sharp so the contest may be finished before dark.

AVIATION MEETING

Big Affair Is Scheduled at Long Island for This Fall.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Following the return today of Orville Wright, it was announced tonight at the Aero club of America that an autumn aviation meeting rivaling those at Rheims and Blackpool will soon be held on Long Island.

The chief contest will be for the Michelin trophy won by Wilbur Wright in 1908, with a flight of two hours, 18 minutes. Under the rules, the flight must be made in a closed circle and must be longer than made by Wright, 76 1-2 miles.

Wilbur Wright said the aviator to win this cup will probably have to fly for six or seven hours.

HARVARD MEETS CORNELL

Teams Battle Today on Gridiron, First Time in 12 Years.

Yale vs. Brown.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—The members of the Cornell football squad received a warm welcome from the Harvard gridiron warriors when the Ithacans arrived here today. Tomorrow the two teams will meet in the stadium for their first football battle in 12 years. Light secret practice was given the Harvard squad in the stadium. Leslie will be at left halfback in place of Corbett, the latter having been out of the game for more than a week on account of injuries. Except left tackle where Hooper will be in place of McKay, all the positions will be filled by regulars.

The late M. Chauchard paid the sums of $160,000, $200,000 and $220,000, respectively, for three of Millet's paintings.

Goals From the Field

Denver writers would have us believe that the Mines-D. U. football game in Colorado today will decide the Rocky Mountain championship. Boulder and the Tigers are still very much in the running, and the Ministers will have a hard tussle to protect their laurels. Being outside the college conferences, which has a majority of the big schools in Colorado, neither the Mines nor D. U. have a chance at the conference championship. Should the Mines and Tigers both win from D. U., there will be the old quarrel as to who is really champion. It is unlikely that the Preachers will lose their claim to the title today.

The loss of Captain Archie Spring is a severe blow to the chances of the Goldenites. An injury received two weeks ago will keep him out of today's game. Douglas, his substitute, has played fullback the last two years, and is a good gainer at half. Douglas, who has been playing at full since Spring's injury, may be out of the game also. The loss of these two veterans is sure to weaken the Mines team.

One of the biggest football attractions billed for today is the Minnesota-Wisconsin contest at Madison. By winning today's game from Wisconsin, the Gophers have the western football championship in their grasp. Last Saturday, when they walloped Coach Stagg's Maroons to the tune of 29 to 6, the Chicago threat was put out of the running. The Badgers are in fine condition, and are expected to put up a game fight, although the Gophers seem to have the better chance for victory.

Four games of football, to be played on eastern fields today, will sum up more concisely than any so far this season the present status and future hopes of the leading colleges. Cornell plays Harvard, Dartmouth plays Princeton, Yale plays Brown and Pennsylvania faces Lafayette. Yale's record has been consistently clean, and her powerful offense will be difficult to smother. Dartmouth, having beaten Harvard in past years, is no longer faced with equanimity by any of the big four, while this year Princeton is not up to her best form. Cornell, too, is in hard luck, and her game with Harvard is not expected to develop the latter's true form, as it will show against Yale. Pennsylvania, in Lafayette, has a team that has already defeated Princeton. The red and blue, however, counts on winning without difficulty.

PRINCETON VS. DARTMOUTH

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—The Princeton football team today went through a long signal drill in preparation for the game with Dartmouth tomorrow. The coaches realize that the local team will have to be at its best to defeat the strong Dartmouth team.

PENN VS. LAFAYETTE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 5.—In preparation for what is expected to be one of the hardest games of the season with Lafayette tomorrow, the University of Pennsylvania football team had light practice today. Hutchinson, Pennsylvania's fullback, who has been out of the game for three weeks with a wrenched knee, is not in condition to play.

Tomorrow— An OPPENHEIM Story

You'll find it in the Litery Magazine section of the SUNDAY GAZETTE, the high grade illustrated magazine that is given to Gazette readers FREE every Sunday.

You know the name OPPENHEIM. It stands for the best there is in short stories and novels. You'll find it in the table of contents of half a dozen leading monthly magazines for October and November. It costs a lot of money to get OPPENHEIM stories, but it is part of the policy of our LITERARY MAGAZINE SECTION to give its readers the best.

This story is entitled, "THE TRAGEDY OF AN UNSPENT LIFE," and it is powerful in its appeal to human interest. It's the sort of story you'll find yourself discussing with your family and your friends. OPPENHEIM, the writer of scores of good stories, never wrote a better one than this.

This great tale is only one feature of many in next Sunday's Literary Magazine section of The Gazette. There is a story entitled, "The Return of the Bread," by Fremont Rider, author of a series of articles in The Delineator entitled "Are the Dead Alive?," etc., another, "The Taming of Ripple," a Western story by Will Chamberlain: "The Derelicts of Washington," by Smith D. Fry; "The Open Door," by Earle Ashley Walcott; a humerous essay on football and another humorous dissertation on the much abused railway coupon ticket by Geo. Fitch; "How Uncle Sam Saved the Lobster," by Frederick W. Coburn, and other special articles.

$10,0C0 VALUE OF ıWu MILL CLEANUPS

Gaylord and Gold Issue Plants Handling Low-Grade With Success.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 5.—Cleanups were made this week at both the Caylord mill on Ironclad hill and the Gold Issue mill on Carbonate hill. The gross bullion value of the retorts is estimated at about $10,000.

The Gaylord mill is operated by Edwin Gayord of Denver, lessee of the Jerry Johnson mine. The mine last month produced in excess of 1,200 tons of ore of an average value of about $25 a ton, that was shipped to the valley plants, in addition to the low-grade ores with an average value of $3.50 a ton treated at the mill. The plant treated 1,100 tons of such ore, with profit to the lessee.

The Gold Issue mill has been treating the low-grade ores from the Midget mine on Gold hill, and during the past month some 2,000 tons were transported to the mill, a distance of two and one-quarter miles, over the aerial railroad, at low cost. The mill treated approximately 1,850 tons. This sulphide ore is subjected to roasting, and for this purpose the Edwards roaster, an Australian patented device, first introduced at the telluride camp at Kalgoorie, Australia, has been installed and is reported a success. J. E. Edwards, the inventor, who was present at this, the initial cleanup, left afterward for Mexico, where similar plants are being constructed.

TRILBY STOCKHOLDERS IN ANNUAL MEETING

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Nov. 5.—The annual stockholders' meeting of the Trilby Mines company was called to order by Prest. L. K. Mearkle at the office of the company in the Pitsburg block, at 10:30 today, and adjournment was immediately taken to permit the stockholders present to visit both the Trilby mine and mill. The meeting will reconvene tomorrow, when a board of directors will be elected and the reports of the officers of the company will be presented. The Trilby mine, operated on company account, has been developed into one of the consistent producers of the Bull hill section.

PRINCESS E LESSEES HAVE PROFITABLE VEIN

Special to The Gazette.

ELKTON, Colo., Nov. 5.—A three-car shipment is being loaded out from the Gregory shaft on the Princess E lode mining claim on Raven hill, by Lessees Smith and Johnson. These operators have opened up a new ore shoot, beyond the former Hayden ore body, and while the ore shipped to date has been of milling grade, the shoot is a strong and profitable one. The mine is owned by the Elkton company.

NEW ORE BODY OF SIZE IN THE DAMON

Special to The Gazette.

ALTMAN, Colo., Nov. 5.—Cox, Whitmore and associates, who secured a renewal of their lease on the Damon mine of the United Gold Mines company in October, have opened up a new ore body, in the "flat" under development at the first or 100-foot level, and will resume shipments early in the coming week. An upraise has already been carried nine feet in the ore and the upper hanging wall of the "flat" has not yet been exposed. The values obtaining are of milling grade, and with the development of the shoot, heavy shipments will follow.

MARKET RELAPSES AND TONE ERRATIC

U. S. Steel Falls Into Speculative Background and Centers of Trading Shift.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Steel fell into the background in the stock speculation today, and the volume of the whole market suffered accordingly. There was some shift of speculative preference back into the old favorites, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Reading, but the market on the whole relapsed into one of specialties, and was given over to somewhat erratic and irregular movements. Yesterday's rumors that the listing of U. S. Steel on the Paris bourse was imminent failed of confirmation, and were positively discredited in cabled accounts from Paris.

The Pennsylvania securities, including the stock and convertible bonds, showed further depression as an expression of the unfavorable view taken of the offerings of new stock at par to stockholders. The semiannual dividend of 3 per cent came off the price of Pennsylvania today, increasing the appearance of depression.

The money market was tranquil, but the situation was the subject of active discussion. From abroad came renewed intimations of the possibility of an advance to 6 per cent in the minimum discount rates, both of the Bank of England and of the Imperial Bank of Germany. Foreign exchange rates yielded, but recovered briskly. Forecasts of the weekly currency movement indicated only a slight offset to the loss in cash on subtreasury operations. The net decline in the cash holdings of the banks for the week appears to be in the neighborhood of $2,500,000. A good deal of talk was heard of the supposed negotiations for a closer combination of the leading copper interests. Amalgamated Copper, however, was freely supplied, in spite of assertions of the good quality of the buying of the stocks. The railroad equipment stocks offered an example of the effects of profit taking without any change in the nature of the good trade reports affecting those companies.

The exports of wheat, including flour, for the week reached $5,397,455 bushels, an increase over last week of nearly 1,300,000 bushels.

The closing tone was decidedly weak.

Bonds were irregular, with most of the activity in convertible issues, which were weak. Total sales, par value, $5,014,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

BREAK IN WHEAT DUE TO BEARISH REPORTS

Price Slump in Last Half of Session Corn and Oats Weak.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Liberal receipts and bearish reports concerning the fall-sown crop in this country caused a fresh slump in wheat prices today. At the close, prices showed net losses of ⅝@¾ to ⅞. Corn and oats also closed weak, but provisions were strong.

The break in wheat occurred in the final half of the session, when prices dropped about 1c from the high point of the day. The December delivery was again subjected to the greatest selling pressure, and sold off from $1.02¾ to $1.01 6⅝. The market closed almost at the bottom, final quotations on December being at $1.01⅝.

Cables reported beneficial rains in southern Russia, while the report of a St. Louis trade journal told of the highly favorable condition of the winter wheat crop in this country. An estimate on the world's wheat shipment for the week that predicted total exports aggregating nearly 14,000,000 bushels, also had a weakening effect.

Corn was in fair demand during the early part of the day, shorts and commission houses being moderate bidders. The buying was brought out chiefly by the comparatively light offerings of both old and new corn in the country, although the firmness of wheat had some effect. December declined ⅝ from the high point of the session. Prices closed almost at the bottom, ⅛ to ⅜@½ lower.

Oats were dull, and the close was weak, with prices ⅛@¼ to ⅜ lower. Light receipts of live hogs in the west—total arrivals today being 50,000 head less than those of the corresponding day a year ago—caused decided strength in provisions. Shorts in November lard covered freely, and cash interests also bought that product. Sentiment was bullish all day, and at the close prices were up 5 to 37½c.

GENERAL INDUSTRY IS INCREASINGLY ACTIVE

Cotton Goods Trade Unsettled, Owing to High Price of Raw Material.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

Except for the fact that unseasonably warm weather does not tend toward the fullest development of retail trade in heavyweight and winter goods, the general trade and industrial report is one of widespread and increasing activity. Jobbing trade shows increases in nearly all lines. The same is true of industrial operations, iron and steel being as active as ever, with outputs close to or in excess of the maximum, coal is in increasing demand, and lumber and other material is active.

In the cotton goods trade, the great advance in the raw material at a time of nearly record movement to market is a source of unsettlement.

One effect of the high price of cotton is the report that some East Indian cotton has been figured on for import, and it can be laid down at some southern cotton mill centers at 1½ cents below the price of the American product, grown near by.

Business failures for the week ending with November 4 in the United States were 212, against 217 last week, 243 in the like week of 1908, 226 in 1907, 146 in 1906, and 166 in 1905.

Failures in Canada number 24, which compares with 24 last week and 33 in the corresponding week of 1908.

Wheat, including flour exports from the United States and Canada, for the week ending November 4, aggregated 5,397,455 bushels, against 4,300,449 bushels last week and 4,940,274 this week last year. For the 18 weeks ending November 4, exports are 52,713,638 bushels, against 76,746,391 in the corresponding period last year.

Corn exports for the week are 380,935 bushels, against 516,448 last week and 312,584 in 1908. For the 18 weeks ending November 4, corn exports are 3,035,640 bushels, against 1,396,702 last year.

A RELIGIOUS AUTHOR'S STATEMENT.

Rev. Joseph H. Fesperman, Salisbury, N. C., who is the author of several books, writes: "For several years I was afflicted with kidney trouble and last winter I was suddenly stricken with a severe pain in my kidneys and was confined to bed eight days unable to get up without assistance. My urine contained a thick white sediment and I passed same frequently day and night. I commenced taking Foley's Kidney Remedy, and the pain gradually abated and finally ceased and my urine became normal. I cheerfully recommend Foley's Kidney Remedy. For sale by all druggists.

TREASURES IN MESSINA RUINS.

Jewelry and Securities for $20,000,000 Still Unclaimed.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

ROME.—Jewelry and other valuables which the military authorities have collected from the ruins of Messina, and for which no claimants can be found, are estimated to be worth $20,000,000.

This vast collection of riches is heaped up in the subterranean vaults of the citadel and in wooden shelters, and is intrusted entirely to the honesty of four officers, who have not even sufficient soldiers to guard the shelters.

In one of these shelters the soldiers have constructed rough shelves, on which diamonds and gold are piled in the most extraordinary manner. A small cardboard box, the size of a matchbox, contains a necklace of pearls valued at $20,000; between an old pair of boots and a pair of oars there is a simple envelope containing state bonds of $400,000 made out to bearer.

In another small wooden box lies a diamond solitaire, worth a fortune, which was registered by the soldiers as a white stone. Further on a petroleum can contains gold coins amounting to $10,000.

There are also safes innumerable filled with hundreds of gold watches, rings, chains, bracelets, earrings, pocketbooks and treasures of all sorts.

All these riches have been found in the superficial excavations carried on up to the present while the wealthiest part of the town—the first and second floors and cellars is still untouched.

Dr. Neff, the director of the department of health of Philadelphia, has started a movement to eradicate adenoids in the school children of the Quaker City.

HELPFUL WORDS

From a Colorado Springs Citizen.

Is your back lame and painful?

Does it ache especially after exertion?

Is there a soreness in the kidney region?

These symptoms indicate weak kidneys;

There is danger in delay.

Weak kidneys fast get weaker.

Give your trouble prompt attention.

Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly.

They strengthen weak kidneys.

Read this Colorado Springs testimony.

Mrs. C. W. Brewer, 1509 Grant Ave., Colorado Springs, Colo., says: "I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as their use in my family has demonstrated their curative powers in cases of kidney complaint. Ten years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were used in my house in a severe case of this trouble and they brought relief after doctors' treatment had proven useless."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

Flag Yours When It Goes By

Your opportunity can't pick you out and then drop out of line and come to you.

But you can flag it - side track it - label it yours and proceed to use it to the limit of its possibilities.

Don't say "O, well, other people might find something in The Gazette, but my case is different."

The Gazette Want Ads are for that special purpose of handling the cases that are different of finding the people that are "different" and better.

The sole object of all the pages of Want Ads in The Gazette is to bring together the people who have what you want to buy - and what you have to sell.

GORTON'S

You ought not

To need much argument to prove the advantage of choosing your clothes from a big stock of all good-ones. You can't choose the wrong quality here; we haven't got it; nothing but the best. The Adler-Rochester Suits and Overcoats we selected this season are unusually good; our own fabrics, exclusive here, our own choice models. The new grays are particularly choice and fetching; $40 to $18.

Twenty-five dollars does wonders in clothes buying in this store; we've concentrated value in Suits and Overcoats at $25.

FATHER OF OFFICER DIES George Perry Cochrane, aged 55 years, father of Policeman Patrick Cochrane, died last night at 8 o'clock at the home, 314 South Conejos street, from a complication of diseases. He is survived by a wife and two sons, and has been a resident here for some time. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the rooms of the Carrington and Sons Undertaking company.

DANCING class, Majestic hall, today, 3 to 5 o'clock. Dance tonight. Fink's orchestra.

PSYCHOLOGY CLASS The psychology class for teachers will meet at 9 o'clock this morning in room 30, Palmer hall.

GRACE TO SPEAK—The Rev. Mr. Grace of the Asbury Methodist church will speak at the Ministerial association meeting, Monday morning, at 10 o'clock.

ROYAL LEAGUE—An enjoyable program of readings and music was given at the meeting of the Royal League at the Y. M. C. A. rooms last night. Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Cox, E. W. Davis and Ed Jones were among those who took part. After the giving of the program, the conferring of degrees and the regular business took place.

MICHOSCOPE STOLEN FROM THE TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT

An incident of the tuberculosis meeting at the Durkee building last night, not on the program, was the stealing of a valuable microscope belonging to the Cragmor sanitarium, valued at $250. The theft probably occurred while the attention of all was directed to the front of the room, for hundreds of people were present within a few feet of the table from which the instrument was stolen.

No trace of the microscope had been discovered at a late hour last night.

Y. M. C. A. STAR COURSE

The Tuberculosis Exhibit Warning!

The public drinking cup has been denounced as extremely dangerous. It spreads consumption more than does any other one thing. We have folding paper drinking cups that are so cheap that you simply cannot afford to run any risks. They are easily carried and may be used several times. Get some before it is too late.
